Cougars' Eddie Gets Cute Kitten

Victoria's proudest poppa today is in Saskatoon but he is counteracting the prairie chill by thinking warm thoughts about Barbara Lorraine, a rookie in the hockey world. The father in question is Eddie Dorohoy of the Victoria Cougars, whose wife, Shirley, presented him with a five-pound, nine-ounce bundle of hockey fan Thursday. The little one, posing with Momma, came into this world to the accompaniment of quite a fanfare from Father. Eddie sparked the Cougars to a 5-2 victory over Saskatoon Quakers Thursday night, scoring two goals and two assists. So that Ed will be able to do a little boasting to other Cougar fathers, the Times today sent him a copy of the above picture, air mail, special delivery.—(Times Photo)

Sommers Denies All Knowledge Of Forest License Patronage

Lands and Forests Minister R. E. Sommers today denied any knowledge of government patronage in the issuing of forest management licenses, charged Thursday by the president of the Independent Loggers' Association.

"I know absolutely nothing about it," said Mr. Sommers, commenting on the charges laid by ILA president Russ Boyd.

Mr. Boyd, in a statement issued to the Legislative Press Gallery, said "the forest land of B.C. has become one rich political gravy bowl."

He had particular reference to a license granted to a U.S.-controlled firm in an up-coast area, and implied the government had received campaign funds from the firm.

Mr. Sommers said the firm's application "went through the due process of law." and that the management application was "absolutely approved by the forestry branch.

Mr. Boyd did not send the statement to any member of the government, and the press gallery refused Premier Bennett permission to have a photostat made of the statement.

Mr. Boyd's statement was in the form of what he termed "an open letter" to Mr. Sommers. It named the firm involved, and the area in which the management license is located.

The association president's statement said the firm was granted all the mature and overmature timber in the area, leaving only young growth, and "mountain tops" in the adjacent public working circle for independent logging firms.

The license was granted, Mr. Boyd claimed, against the advice of government forest rangers.

He demanded to know why the government was "so dead set against having a public inquiry" into the forest industry. "You aren't afraid of the truth coming out, are you?" he asked.

"We believe that public working circles (which are managed by government foresters, but logged by independent logging companies) have only one purpose.

"GRAVY BOWL"

"They were meant, like so many other things, as a device to pull the wool over the eyes of the public so they won't see that their most valuable property, the forest land of B.C., has become one big rich political gravy bowl," said Mr. Boyd.

Boyd's charges are the latest development in a drawn-out controversy over forest management, and the condition of B.C.'s vitally important forest industry as a whole.

Mr. Sommers was asked whether the government intended appointing a Royal Commission into the industry. He said, "We never said we would not have one before 1957, or within the 10-year period."

The 10-year period was recommended by Chief Justice Gordon Sloan, who held the last inquiry into the forest industry.

Mr. Sommers said: "We don't recognize the need of an inquiry because of the persistent uproar. We will be guided by the commissioner's recommendation."

Mr. Boyd said the license award reduces the status of some small loggers in the area to that of "sharecroppers."

He said the firm granted the license has agreed to build a sawmill, "where sawmills already are going out of business because you have robbed them of their potential timber supply."

Murder-by-Fire Foiled in Ontario

PICKERING, Ont. (BUP)—A fire-crazy would-be killer was being sought by police today after he tried to murder a 45-year-old Ukrainian and his baby son by wiring shut the doors of their home, dousing it with gasoline and setting it afire.

William Saswirska and his 15-months-old son, George, escaped by a window. Mrs. Saswirska, who came to Canada with her husband in 1948, was in hospital at the time.

Pickering Township police said the unidentified arsonist ingeniously turned the house into a first-class death trap.

He crept up to the house, two miles north of Frenchman's Bay, about 4 a.m. today, fastened 32 feet of galvanized wire to the front door and anchored it shut against a tree 20 feet away.

The would-be killer jammed a block of wood against the rear door so that it could not be opened from the inside. A ladder belonging to a neighbor was propped up against a second-story window and there was an empty gasoline can nearby.

Police said the arsonist apparently used the ladder to climb into the house so he could sprinkle the upstairs with gasoline before tossing in a match.

Saswirska awoke to find the house a mass of roaring flames.

"I ran to the back door, but couldn't get it open," he said. "I tried the front door, but couldn't open it either."

He battled his way through heavy smoke to the living room, smashed a window and lowered out the baby. Then he climbed out himself.

TORONTO POLICE NAB 'STRANGLER' SUSPECT

SNOW FOR GREY CUP?

Esks Hopeful; Als Favorites

TORONTO (CP)—Sam Etcheverry, Montreal Alouettes' field general and pass-throwing quarterback, today was named Canada's outstanding football player of 1954. Gerry James, 20-year-old halfback with Winnipeg Blue Bombers, was named the outstanding native Canadian player.

TORONTO (BUP)—A threat of snow followed the Edmonton Eskimos as they ran through a final light workout today, still hopeful of upsetting the Montreal Alouettes Saturday and taking the Grey Cup west for the fifth time in 23 years.

Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy said his boys were displaying "quiet confidence." The favored Alouettes completed a light boning session at home and boarded a train for the nation's biggest sports spectacle.

Forecaster Fred Turnbull announced meanwhile that "the probabilities are all for snow" by the time the east-west duel hits a greasy Varsity stadium field 10 a.m. PST.

He said a western storm would likely not hit in full force until the game was over. If the temperature is much below the expected high of 38, the snow will be heavier and visibility cut. If the mercury rises, rain will soften the field, dampen the seats and likely strengthen the 5-to-1 odds against the Eskies.

Industrial heating equipment was being set up by the Canadian General Electric Company late today in a last ditch attempt to dry up the puddles. The firm said it successfully gave the famed Pasadena Rose Bowl the same drying treatment last year.

Three other severely burned men were pulled from the blazing mess and rushed to the hospital.

Ottawa Will Pay 75% Says Fairey

A $70,000 reconstruction project for Esquimalt's Admirals Road was assured today when Victoria MP, Dr. Frank Fairey, announced that Ottawa is ready to pay 75 per cent of the cost.

Dr. Fairey, in an exclusive Times interview this morning, disclosed the Ottawa offer.

He said that in a phone conversation with Defense Minister Ralph Campney he had been told "that the minister is prepared to recommend to his colleagues that the federal government undertake to pay 75 per cent of the total cost of reconstruction of Admirals."

He added that letters detailing the offer are en route to Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele and to himself.

LONG-STANDING PROBLEM

"No sum has been mentioned, but it is understood Esquimalt proposals and estimates of cost will be forwarded to Ottawa," added Dr. Fairey. (Esquimalt has estimated the cost as $70,000.)

The announcement ends years of dissatisfaction in the municipality where councils have argued that National Defense traffic is responsible for the road's condition.

"The problem has been long standing, and one which I have concerned myself with repeatedly. I am deeply gratified that the defense department has given consideration to it."

EARLIER INTIMATION

Clr. J. E. Carey disclosed that council had earlier intimation the offer was under way. He said "I am very pleased the government has recognized these roads are being damaged by federal government traffic."

He said council had set the estimate for complete reconstruction from Esquimalt Road to municipal boundaries at $70,000. "It may be a good deal more now."

Reeve A. C. Wurtele would not leave a Canadian Community Planning Association Conference at the Empress Hotel,

Boy's Death Accidental, Court Told

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP) —A statement that Thomas Blainey, charged with the shotgun slaying of his nephew, accidentally killed the boy while unloading his gun was admitted as evidence in the preliminary hearing Thursday.

The statement was given by a member of the Blainey family to RCMP.

It said that Blainey and his mother, Mrs. Annie Blainey, had been drinking beer on the day of the shooting and Blainey later took his rifle outside to shoot at various objects.

When he returned, said the statement, he put the rifle in a corner. Later he picked it up to eject two shells that remained in it and it went off, killing his nephew, Ernie.

That statement also said that Blainey then panicked, put the boy's body in a weighted sack and threw it into the water.

The preliminary hearing is expected to last several days.

FACE-WASHING FISH, WINKING FROGS MEAN RAIN

Seer Predicts Skies Will Weep; —Deep Snow, If Earth Quakes

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A Songhees Indian weather prophet said today Victoria is in for plenty of rain for the next two months because the "heavens are weeping over man's failure to get along with one another in the world."

Eighty-one-year-old Jimmy Fraser, grandson of Chief Cheachlatcht, who from time to time makes a weather prediction, said he was forewarned of the rainy season by signs he noticed on the land and sea.

But, he added, he could not tell yet if Victoria was in for a cold winter.

"I saw the fish in the sea were still washing their faces; that sure sign of plenty, plenty rain," he said.

BAD SIGN

The stars, too, were "moving away from the earth," he added. "A bad sign. When the stars come down and kiss the earth it means good weather."

Jimmy is poetical. He speaks allegorically and is sometimes hard to understand. For him the trees, the stars, sea and mountains are but symbols of the eternal—all is living.

The old Indian said he would only be able to predict in January if Victoria would get snow and below zero weather next year. The signs for the present, he said, all pointed to rainy weather.

"But beware if we get an earthquake within the next two months," he said, raising his voice slightly. "If we do, gather your firewood, for it means snow six feet high and cold winds."

Jimmy noted that William Mackie, Victoria's weatherman, made a mistake this week by predicting rain for Wednesday when it actually came Thursday. He said he had a high respect for Mr. Mackie, but he wanted to give him a word of advice so that he wouldn't get in trouble with his bosses in Ottawa.

"Let him look into the eyes of a frog," he said. "If it winks, it is a sure sign rain will fall within 24 hours."

Mayors Urge Ottawa To Halt Unemployment

Municipalities Unable to Help

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian mayors said today "abnormal unemployment" exists in some areas and urged the federal government to do something about it.

They said the municipalities could not pay for assistance to the unemployed.

The Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, in its annual brief to the cabinet, recommended a four-point program designed to check unemployment and give relief to the unemployed.

The program:

1. A federal-provincial-municipal program of publicly-financed undertakings;

2. Transfer of unemployed persons from "economically distressed" areas to localities where jobs are in greater supply;

3. Extended coverage of the Unemployment Insurance Act to cover classes of workers not now included;

4. Federal assistance payments to unemployed persons who have exhausted their unemployment insurance benefits or are not eligible to receive benefits.

The delegation was headed by Mayor Don Mackay of Calgary.

The federation said in its 27-page brief that while no one would seriously suggest the Canadian economy is headed for a slump, a number of industries faced depressed conditions, resulting in some prolonged periods of unemployment.

These records of unemployment must be checked, especially in the areas where they have reached abnormal levels.

CANUCKS BUILD SCHOOL FOR KOREAN CHILDREN

WITH CANADIAN FORCES IN KOREA (BUP)—Lt.-Col. H. W. V. Matthews of Cowichan Station, B.C., clambered up the bare rafters of a new building today and nailed the ridge-pole firmly into place, while some 50 families of Korean villagers applauded.

The building will serve as a school for the village of Hwasan-Dong, the second war-ravaged village to be adopted by Canadian troops in this area. The school is being built with donations from the troops.

The date of the event—the year 4,287 on the Korean calendar—was inscribed on the pole. And in keeping with local traditions, a bundle of dead fish was tied to the pole.

Provincial Taxes —With a Ceiling?

Finincial Post Says Formula Found In Quebec-Ottawa Taxation Wrangle

TORONTO (CP)—The Financial Post says Prime Minister St. Laurent has suggested a formula which may form the basis of a tax agreement between the federal and Quebec governments.

The business weekly in its current issue says the formula, "under careful study and refinement by finance department officials," provides a ground on which exploratory talks can be held between federal and Quebec officials.

The story says the St. Laurent formula would:

1. Set a ceiling on provincial revenues from direct taxation.

2. Allow individuals to deduct in full taxes which they pay to a province.

"It would ensure that Quebec could not do better by levying its own taxes than the other provinces do out of the tax rental agreements. And at the same time it would ensure that Quebec income taxpayers were no worse off because Mr. Duplessis levies his own tax."

The Financial Post says the St. Laurent formula briefly is this:

"All the taxes which Mr. Duplessis wants to collect for himself, but which other provinces rent to Ottawa, would be fully deductible. This would include peronal income tax — perhaps with no limit, perhaps with a limit fixed at 15 per cent of the federal tax.

"But if Mr. Duplessis collected more than a stated proportion of what his tax rental payment would be, then he would undertake to refund the excess to the federal government. The proportion proposed is 90 per cent of the tax rental payment."

Mainland Faces Typhoid Threat

Major Epidemic Possible Through Inadequate Sewerage

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A major epidemic of disease could break out in the lower mainland because of inadequate sewer facilities, civic health officer Dr. Stewart Murray warned.

Dr. Murray told the Vancouver sewerage and drainage board Thursday night that only doctor's services and good luck have prevented a serious outbreak in the past.

The health officer was commenting on a report by chief engineer A. N. Rawn of Los Angeles county on drainage facilities of the Fraser Valley.

The Rawn report said $65,000,000 was needed to bring the sewerage facilities up to par.

Rawn said municipalities in the Lower Mainland, including Vancouver and New Westminster, were in for serious trouble if pollution in their areas is not corrected. He said immediate precautions must be taken to insure clean beaches next summer.

The biggest fear is of typhoid fever, Rawn said.

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, who attended the meeting, promised full co-operation of the government although he added it was mostly a municipal matter.

British H-Bomb Ready to Test?

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—An announcement that British officials are coming to Australia to talk about new atomic tests touched off speculation today that a British hydrogen explosion may be in the offing.

Supply minister Howard Beale announced:

"A small party of United Kingdom officials, led by J. M. Wilson (under-secretary of the ministry of supply), will visit Australia in the near future for consultations with Australian authorities about the possibility of holding further atomic weapon trial in Australia."

The Sydney Sun says "Britain is believed to be preparing to explode a hydrogen bomb somewhere in the oceans around Australia."

"Australia has doubts whether there is room in its territories except Antarctica for such world-shaking explosives without endangering life.

"Emu flat at Woomera, where an atom bomb test was held, is only about 800 miles from cities.

The Japanese experience with the American-exploded bombs has revealed that radiation goes far beyond that distance."

Palm Dairies' Manager Claims Control Reduces Profits to Fifth of 1 Per Cent

VANCOUVER (CP) — The management of Vancouver's second largest milk distributing organization has told the Cline Royal Commission that his firm made a profit of only $5,360 for the first nine months of 1954.

The official, George Fawcett, manager of the Vancouver branch of Palm Dairies Ltd., was testifying at a hearing in Vancouver Thursday into the B.C. milk industry.

He said the profit, before taxes, represents 1·5 of 1 per cent of the dollar turnover of more than $2,750,000.

Mr. Fawcett blamed part of this low rate of profit on the milk board's decontrol in Oct., 1953, of prices above the producer level and its approval of use of paper containers for milk sales.

"The present milk board order is unfair and discriminatory," he said. "The independent distributor must pay a fixed producer minimum price whereas the co-operatives and agencies can settle with their members on a basis that is not fixed."

PM Wry But Unrepentant Amid Controversy Flaring in Soviet and U.K. Newspapers

BRISTOL, Eng. (UP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill admitted today, with a wry grin, that he is "supposed to be in a bit of a scrape" as a result of his disclosure that he was ready to hand guns back to the Germans in 1945 if the Soviet army advanced too far.

The storm of controversy kicked up by that remark threatened to mar the prime minister's 80th birthday celebration next Tuesday.

Churchill beamed on representatives of the Bristol University Students' Union who presented to him a silver salver as a birthday present, and said:

"I thank you for giving it to me on a day on which—as you will see by looking at your papers—I am supposed to be in a bit of a scrape."

British newspapers of all political complexions commented on the Churchill disclosure. Many used such adjectives as "bad" and "imprudent." Others described Churchill's war-time suspicions of Russia as "justified" and "foresighted."

Churchill's recognition of his critics was the only concession he made to the anguished complaints voiced by Britain's Socialist press and by Radio Moscow.

The prime minister didn't even admit he actually was in trouble only that he is "supposed to be."

MOSCOW POUNCES

But newspaper comment indicated that the issue will occupy attention for some time to come. Moscow Radio pounced upon it to charge that Churchill had "unmasked the true aims of the policy of reviving the German Wehrmacht (army).

"People here (in Moscow) remember Churchill's statements during the war when he spoke about the valiant struggle of the Soviet army against Hitlerite Germany and contrast them with his present statement, drawing thereby the necessary conclusions," Moscow said.

Moscow radio, beamed for Soviet home consumption, made no further comment of its own but quoted extensively from criticisms of the Churchill speech by British politicians and newspapers.

The British Press was divided on the issue. Half leaped to the defense of Churchill against the attack the other half made on him for the state.

Newspapers ranging from the Times to the Communist Daily Worker used such terms as "bad," "impudent," and "astounding." Newspapers ranging from the Manchester Guardian to the right-wing Daily Express used the adjectives "justified," "foresighted" and "prudent."

"Sir Winston's bit of reminiscence was certainly ill-advised," the Manchester Guardian said. "But some of the strictures on him smack of hypocrisy. It is nonsense to pretend that in sending telegrams to Montgomery Churchill was showing distrust of a loyal ally.

"There was much in those early days of May, 1945, to suggest that the Russians were out to grab as much for Communism as they could. Who was to know where they would stop?"

The Daily Express asked, "What is all the fuss about? Is (Premier Georgi) Malenkov supposed to be a simpleton?"

"The men in the Kremlin are perfectly aware of the doubts Churchill has always felt, and frequently expressed, about their purpose," the Express said." . . . The Russian will to peace, if it is genuine, cannot conceivably be affected by Churchill's historical flash-back."

The Conservative Daily Mail called criticism of Churchill's statement "by muddle heads and lefties" is "pestiferous nonsense."

Convict, 17, Tells How Trio Slew Remington

LEWISBURG, Pa. (UP)—A 17-year-old juvenile delinquent was charged today with two other convicts with murdering William W. Remington, 37, former government economist imprisoned for perjury in a Communist spy case.

Norman H. McCabe, special FBI agent in charge at Philadelphia, announced that FBI agents filed the murder complaint against Lewis Cagle, Jr., of Chattanooga, Tenn.

George Junior McCoy, 34, of Grundy, Va., and Robert Carl Parker, 21, of Washington, D.C., previously had been charged with slaying Remington with a brick in a sock in his dormitory at the prison here.

The complaint against Cagle indicated for the first time that robbery was the motive for the slaying.

McCabe said Cagle admitted that he, McCoy and Parker planned to ransack Remington's private cell in the dormitory of the northeastern federal penitentiary here on the morning of November 22. The fatal beating of the former commerce department economist took place while they were in his room, McCabe said.

Prices and Prosperity

MR. H. A. STEVENSON, PRESIDENT of Barclay's Bank of Canada, notes an unpleasant fact unknown to most Canadians: This country's foreign trade has been falling while the trade of non-dollar countries like Britain has been rising. It is mainly the fall in our trade, Mr. Stevenson thinks, that has caused what he calls a "pause" in the Canadian economy.

The pause, to be sure, is not serious at the moment, Canada is still abundantly prosperous despite pockets of unemployment, but if our trade continued to fall for long we should face serious trouble.

Why has Canada's trade declined while the trade of sterling nations increased? The reason, as Mr. Stevenson says, is obvious—the nations outside the dollar area are trading more and more among themselves at prices which Canadian exporters often cannot meet. With their low-cost economies they are out-pricing Canadian goods.

Quietly, almost invisibly for the last several years, two distinct and widely-separated price structures have been built up in the world market. In the dollar zone of North America prices have been and are extremely high by all previous standards. In the sterling area, however, and in many nations not actual members of it, a much lower price level prevails.

The nations which can buy a certain commodity at a low price outside the dollar area will not buy it here at a higher price. To take a simple example, Britain buys such things as bacon and dairy products from countries like Denmark and its meat from Australia or Argentina where prices are relatively low. Canadian products of the same sort cannot hope to compete in the British market. (Wheat, timber and some metals, for example, are in a somewhat different situation, since Canada produces them in the kind and quality which Britain and other overseas importers require.)

During a world-wide inflationary boom, when anything could be sold at almost any price, the gap between the dollar and the non-dollar price levels mattered little to Canada. It begins to matter seriously now when the world market is settling down to normal competition and when large and efficient producers like Germany and Japan are re-entering it.

Something over half our exports are going, of course, to the high-price dollar market of the United States, which may be called the bread and butter of the Canadian economy. Something like forty per cent of our exports, which may be called the jam, are going to non-dollar countries. Their markets, though individually small compared to the huge American market, is absolutely vital to us, as no one knows better than the exporters of British Columbia.

Why is our price structure so far out of line with that of most of the world? Mr. Stevenson says that "our high cost of labor will be found the real stumbling block to our trade."

Undoubtedly wages are the largest ingredient of prices and high wages, insofar as they provide a high standard of living, are certainly to be welcomed. However, high wages, in money, may mean little or nothing if they must pay prices equally high. They certainly will not mean a rising standard of living if, advancing beyond the limits of both the domestic and foreign market, they produce a decline in business, hence of employment and hence of consumption.

Economists have long been warning us that we could price ourselves out of the market. In the great boom few businessmen or labor leaders heeded that warning. As Mr. Stevenson says, it cannot be safely ignored any longer.

Einstein and the Simple Trades

WHEN DR. ALBERT EINSTEIN speaks, thoughtful people listen. They have lent an attentive ear to what he said to the U.S. magazine "Reporter."

"If I would be a young man again," the distinguished physicist declared, "I would not try to become a scientist or scholar or teacher. I would rather choose to be a plumber or peddler in the hope to find that modest degree of independence still available under present circumstances."

In this way Dr. Einstein draws attention to the often cruel and destructive control some interests seek to impose on ideas—or at least on their expression and the people who voice them. He underscores the suspicion and distrust which appear to be cultivated against the intellectual. He is protesting, it seems, a growing sentiment which might be roughly phrased, "There's an egghead. Let's crack it."

Whether or not this is a peculiar sickness of the present age is a question. Nonconformity has usually invited reprisal. Witches were burned at the stake. The modern style of "correction" for violators of orthodoxy is as often mental as it is economic. Seldom does it express itself in physical form.

Unquestionably Dr. Einstein has a case. He has expressed it dramatically in his yearning for some uncomplicated vocation. He sees in the life of a tradesman a serenity denied scientific and academic people. Many of the latter have suffered intensely in the name of "security."

But it is significant that Dr. Einstein can raise his voice of protest—significant, too, that so many others can follow the same course. The modern Galileo finds support in public. He is not abandoned to his persecutors—not, at least, in those countries where the instincts of democracy still flourish.

Perhaps here is a spiritual solace for those scientists, scholars and teachers of whom Dr. Einstein was thinking. Certainly they are subjected to pressures from which a truly enlightened society would free them. But whenever pressure is applied, there are voices raised to challenge it.

As long as those voices can be heard, the position of the scientist, scholar and teacher is not hopeless. They may suffer personally for their ideas and the communication of them, but if the ideas have merit they will eventually prevail. Cold comfort, perhaps, for the individual, but certainly logical from a scientific point of view.

Not for Us

THE JUNIOR CHAMBER OF Commerce was well advised to drop the idea of a ceremonial burning of books, even when these books were to be horror and crime comics.

The campaign to get rid of the tawdry and harmful literature is good in principle, particularly when this takes the form of providing better books in exchange for the obscene ones. But the whole concept of a public burning of literature has been made so much a symbol of intolerance, fanaticism and authoritarianism that its employment even in an acceptable cause is unsavory.

Book burning is a trade mark of dictatorship; the very term should be anathema to all democratic minds. Like "death march" or "concentration camp" it has a significance beyond the literal meaning of the words, and is best left as a monopoly of the powers that gave it birth.

Every Vote Counts

THE COMPARATIVELY SMALL majorities that decided many contests in the recent United States elections provided an adequate answer to the qualified voter who stays home from the polls with the excuse that "my vote won't count." Every vote counts in every election; it is as important for the voter to exercise his franchise as it is for the candidate to receive his assent.

An even more marked example was furnished in the recent provincial by-elections in Nova Scotia. East Hants constituency must have set a record for even division of votes, surely the final answer to all claims that individual votes don't count.

In the election of 1953 this riding elected a Liberal by 2,250 votes to 2,249 — a majority of one. In the latest balloting the vote was an exact tie, 2,260 to 2,260. The recount was likewise a tie, and the election had to be decided by the vote of the returning officer — in favor of the Liberals.

Cold Feet on His Back

GUI CARON, SAYS THE BRITISH United Press, is the Quebec boss of the LPP, Canada's Communist party. Mr. Caron, reports the same news agency, has urged the Quebec legislature to reject Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent's contention that Quebec should get no special treatment.

Mr. Caron, it appears, is for the moment a political bed-fellow of Premier Maurice Duplessis. The premier of the Ancient Province will probably find no warmth in the association.

There is no spiritual affinity between Mr. Duplessis and the communists—anything but. Yet he finds himself embraced on a major point of policy by his enemy. Is this the kiss of death? Or just what are Mr. Caron's people trying to do—drive a wedge between the peoples of Canada and using the Quebec premier's case as a convenient sledge hammer?

I WAS making a few rude noises about Ontario last time, and about a state of mind that I can only call Ontarianism. And beshrew me if I didnt forget to tell you the Three Essential Things about Ontario. They are as follows:

Brock

(1) The branch of metaphysics called Ontology is concerned with the essence of things. The branch of Canada called Ont. is not.

(2) The fable of the Ont. and the Grasshopper is only a half-truth, or possibly a bit less. This is not generally known throughout Ontario.

(3) "When the wind is from the East 'Tis good for neither man nor beast."

This old weather-lore was intended as a guide to weather alone. But it is very useful in other types of prevailing winds.

DRINKING SONG

THE Government calls them Licensed Premises. . .
Suggestive phrase that rhymes with Nemesis!
It carries tender hints of doom.
Abandon hope within this, . . .

Sorry, I nearly said "room." That would have been illegal. That would hang us, every mother's son.

ROSY DAWN

THPEE of my four children dislike lumps in their porridge. Who does not? I will tell you. My fourth child doesn't. He likes lumps in his porridge and chews them with gusto, and thinks himself a very lucky boy to find any lumps in his porridge. Nor is this an act. He is entirely sincere about it. Sometimes the other three give him their lumps, as a bonus, and his sister Mary always does. It makes her feel generous and thrifty at the same time . . . kind to her little brother Tim, and yet full of the waste-not, want-not stuff.

This morning she found a huge lump in her porridge . . . a regular giant of a lump, a family-size or economy-size lump. She was thrilled to pieces. "My," she said, "Tim is certainly going to be excited when he sees this." And then, when Tim came in and sat down, she said "Here you are, Tim, this is probably the best lump you ever, ever had." Tim accepted it with a grave courtesy that would have been envied all over Spain, and said "Thank you, Mary," and she beamed with pleasure. She was so warmed by her kindly act, she even forgot to ask for a receipt.

HE'LL SWALLOW ANYTHING

I WAS talking to a cynical little bloke the other night. I rather enjoy big cynics; if they don't stimulate your own ideas, they are at least fair game. But tiny ones are not even vermin to pot at with your rook rifle. They are just so much lifeless mud. And mud and slime come in very pat here, because as Samuel Butler said somewhere, "Is life worth living?" is not a question for a man at all, but for an amoeba or some other microscopic animalcule . . . the sort of one-cell critter that would wiggle about in the mud.

I found out one interesting thing, though. My undersized cynic laughed heartily . . . yes, he had a heart, and it was in the right place too, but very small. He laughed heartily at the credulity of human beings. People will swallow anything. One born every minute, and so on. This gave him honest pleasure, though he seemed to be complaining about it at the same time. And I suddenly realized that the credulity of your damn-fool optimist is as nothing compared with the credulity of the smart little wise-guy of a cynic who knows all the answers. Because the cynical will believe anything . . . but anything . . . provided it is mean enough.

ARTISTS

IT is said that the French are fond of ideas. And this is true, and I like them for it. I am very partial to a nice fresh idea on the half-shell. But the French adore things too. More than we do, usually, and often in a more artistic way. For example, many a Frenchman's passion for each object in his garden can make me feel a dull clod, an ungrateful beast. And when he links this passion for things to a passion for words, which are also things and have a life of their own, then he is apt to be very good company indeed. Take, for example, this passage from Charles Monselet. He says he gets great pleasure from the lobster. "It is as complicated as a cathedral." That is not only very French and very funny and very suddenly vivid, but it is poetry of no mean sort.

TO THE PIGS WITH IT

TALKING of a passion for words, I managed to offend a pal of mine by using the fashionable word "adjusted" once too often in talking about people's minds and personalities. "The hell with 'adjusted'," she said, "it's a stupid word, it makes one sound like a garter."

A USEFUL END

NOT so long ago I stood on the beach with two or three small children to watch the aircraft carrier Magnificent steam by. I said I supposed they'd be putting her in mothballs before too long. One kid asked another what I'd said, and was told "They're going to make that whole ship into golf balls." Talk about swords into ploughshares!

LIVELY NEWS

WHEN I am made Society Editor, which will be any day now, I am going to give you brighter news. Instead of saying who was invited to a party, I will make you a very interesting list of who was NOT invited. Without comment, you understand.

As Our Readers See It

PRIVATE AND SEPARATE

Some person unknown wishes to know what is my basis for classing all private schools as "separate" schools.

My basis is this: Private schools operate separately from the public schools. They pay taxes but are not supported or subsidized by the state. The taxpayers who send their children to such schools pay private fees to support such schools and at the same time they pay taxes to support public schools which their children do not use.

On the other hand the taxpayer who sends his child to the public school makes only the one payment.

In these days of mass production and mass education which tend to standardization we should be thankful for our private schools which are able to give more attention to the individual, thereby helping to develop leadership.

Parents who use these schools realize this and in my opinion should not be penalized. They should receive some relief from taxation. I hope this makes my attitude clear to your anonymous correspondent.

Refutations, Quotations and Replies

In relation to the item in your issue of November 24, entitled "The Archbishop Replies," there are several aspects which ought to be noted.

Archbishop Duke speaks of his letter as a "refutation." It would be interesting to know which part of the Canadian Protestant League "Resolution" he refuted, since there is only one point of connection between the "Resolution" and the "Reply," and that where mention is made regarding "Remembrance Day services." The main aspects of the "Resolution" remain unchallenged and unanswered.

Nowhere does the Archbishop state that the quotations from the authorities of his own church, regarding his church's "intolerance towards those of other faiths, and Protestants in particular," are incorrect or untrue. The fact of the matter is, he knows as well as some other know, that the quotations given can be amplified and corroborated many times over from the highest and undisputed authorities of his own church.

The Archbishop occupies more than half of his letter with quotations from "Hansard" which have not the slightest connection with the Protestant statement regarding Parochial Schools or the arguments it contains. It seems like an attempt to give the impression that he has made reply to the "Resolution," when, in reality, he has made no reply.

One thing stands out clearly in the Archbishop's statement, and that is his concern over the facts regarding his church, as contained in the "Resolution," being made public, where he says, "We were concerned about the publicity being given to it."

It is as stated by Jean-Charles Harvey, French-Canadian editor of the Montreal weekly "Le Jour," at a meeting of The Canadian Democratic Institute in Montreal. Mr. Harvey said that the people of Quebec could freely criticise governments or financial institutions. They could openly condemn Britain and the British empire, and there would be no reprisals. But they were not free to criticise what Mr. Harvey described as 'the clerical power.' They knew that such criticism was bound to bring punishment and ostracism." ("The Calgary Herald," Friday, May 18, 1945.)

The Archbishop's "reply," by its silence on main issues, is the best possible vindication of the Protestant "Resolution," and we thank him for it.

J. B. ROWELL
President, Victoria Branch,
Canadian Protestant League.

Tory Analyses Party Split

The editorial dated the 17th inst. entitled "Why Conservatives Quarrel" is based on a fantastic and completely wrong premise. In that connection I write as one who held high office in the party up to the year 1939, when shortly following the outbreak of the war I resigned from the position of first vice-president of the British Columbia Conservative Association and as a member of the National Executive in order to take up a military appointment.

The editorial is in error in describing the annual meeting of the provincial organization as a "convention." It is doubtful whether the provincial organization as it now exists is in a position to make the financial arrangements necessary for a convention or to get sufficient delegates from ridings throughout the province to attend in sufficient numbers to hold a representative convenion.

You are right in describing the action taken by the provincial association as being the action of "rebels." You are correct in stating that Mr. Drew's illness has no relevance to the situation which has been created. You are also correct in stating that he has served his country with outstanding patriotism both in war and peace.

You were completely wrong, however, when you stated what you considered to be the cause of the feud, viz., your statement that the "rebels" in fact are opposed to Mr. Drew because they suspect that he is preparing to effect some kind of alliance with Social Credit and that "for that suspicion the rebels undoubtedly have a good reason." This was merely a subterfuge adopted by the malcontents to justify their "treason" in the eyes of those who have been faithful party followers and the public generally.

The real cause stems back to the well known quarrel between Herbert Anscomb and Howard Green, the senior Conservative member for British Columbia in parliament. This took place after Mr. Anscomb had been chosen provincial leader.

* * *

Up until that time the affairs of the party had previously been carried on a satisfactory basis for the simple reason that the personalities of the several provincial leaders had been such that any questions that may have arisen between them and the federal members were quietly settled on an amicable basis. The unprecedented action taken by the provincial association resulted finally from the fact that Mr. Drew upheld Mr. Green on questions arising within the party as they affected the control of federal affairs.

In fact the matter really goes back to the situation which arose following the Kamloops convention in 1938 which chose the late Mr. Maitland as provincial leader and out of which there arose within the party what is generally known as the "Anscomb group."

Personally I was a supporter of Mr. Maitland and remained so until his death and I have reluctantly come to the conclusion that the provincial affairs of the party commenced to die then, although following his death Mr. Anscomb by seniority, cabinet position and undoubted personal administrative ability appeared at least at that time to be his logical successor.

* * *

The fact remains that under Mr. Maitland the party progressed to the extent that it returned eleven members to the Legislature to the time when Coalition was formed. Following his death these were generally reduced until now the provincial party has no representative at all.

I am sure that Mr. Anscomb would be the last to complain that he did not receive the support of those who had been Maitland supporters when he first contested the leadership. But on looking back in sspite of the fact that I have not only praised him but have supported him I have come to the regrettable conclusion that he must largely be held responsible for the fate of the party within British Columbia.

This is a difficult personal conclusion to come to and one which I express with reluctance but I cannot escape this conclusion for not only from press reports but otherwise it appears that he has encouraged the present situation to be precipitated by those individuals, including Mr. Finlayson who is, of course, his protege. The basis of this critical opinion was manifestly demonstrated when according to press reports on a motion for confidence in Mr. Drew in Oak Bay he significantly abstained from voting.

The editorial states that the national Conservative leadership "has abandoned any hope of carrying the western provinces." If this be so then the position is hardly any worse than the position of the Liberal Party in each of the three western provinces for that party is not only divided in British Columbia under the somewhat uninspired leadership of Mr. Arthur Laing, it is divided in Alberta and also in Saskatchewan where there is a rebellion within the party against the long-exercised control of the provincial organization and patronage of the party by the federal minister of agriculture, Mr. Gardiner, and it is my guess that in that province will result a situation which should not give the Liberals much comfort.

Then what is the situation generally throughout Canada? There are Liberal governments in four provinces, Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Manitoba, with indications that the Liberals will lose Nova Scotia to the Conservatives in the next election. There are Conservative governments in Ontario and New Brunswick, and in Ontario in spite of charges of irregularity in connection with the trans-Canada highway lately two by-elections returned Conservatives. There are Social Credit governments in the two western provinces and some likelihood of them being the main opposition to the CCF in the next election in Saskatchewan. Quebec has its own peculiar brand of politics. Where then is that united government by the Liberal Party which was so often the pride of the late McKenzie King?

* * *

Even if there was evidence of a movement within either the Conservative and Social Credit Parties to merge for the purpose of securing federal power you are correct in stating that it would not be without precedent. Mr. McKenzie King never hesitated to adopt any device to keep his Party in power. As you say he "engorged" his non-Liberal supporters but by giving them Senate and other appointments as fast as he could.

Your description of the now shattered organization of the Conservative Party within British Columbia as a "rump" is perhaps too flattering because it has no seat. Other definitions may apply however, such as "a fag-end of anything", "an inferior part" or a "remnant".

However, what has taken place in British Columbia must be regarded by all Conservatives as a very serious development and those of us who have supported the Party throughout the years will have to come to a decision as to where their support will lie in the future.

In a sense it may be said that that vote constitutes a balance of power in the electorate. This, I think, will be decided largely by the type of candidates who are nominated but lacking confidence in the leadership of Mr. Finlayson who has already suffered three shocking defeats at the polls it will be difficult for the provincial organization to persuade strong candidates to run.

* * *

Then what are the Conservatives to do? I presume some will vote for such candidates as may be nominated by the provincial organization such as it is in spite of the debacle and the hopelessness that it has caused provincially for which that organization has been the responsible instrument but there are many Conservatives who will not simply vote for a label.

The great majority, I think, will judge the provincial government on what opinion they will have formed on its record when the next election comes around. It will also consider what prospects the Liberal Party has of substituting something better.

I will make so bold as to predict that the provincial Liberals will make a change of leadership before the next election in order to bolster up their cause. It is also my prediction that Mr. Byron I. Johnson will be a candidate in Victoria City.

In conclusion the concern of the Liberal press for the welfare of the "great Conservative Party" is quite touching. Of course, the Liberal Party is all for a two-party system so long as the Liberals are perpetually in power and the Conservatives are always in opposition.

Panic Cry in the Falling Dark

OUT our way some of the youngsters have been gathering in oil-sick ducks.

It seemed to me that kids who would forage around the rocks to collect waterfowl and try to restore them to health were showing a pretty decent sentiment. I didn't think they'd have much success with their patients. It's hard to save a duck when it's sick enough with oil to be caught. Still, the idea was good—started you thinking of St. Francis of Assisi and similar themes.

Stott

Now I'm not so sure. The St. Francis mood is fading. It's being submerged in the violation of a code that used to be axiomatic with kids.

When you've been raised around the waterfront you learn, at an early age, that there are constant dangers in the sea and on rocks bordering deep water. Nobody teaches you these things. They just come to you. And you learn how to behave where footings are treacherous and where it isn't too difficult a trick to drown.

You learn, too, that when you get into trouble, you should holler as loud as you can if you need help. Conversely, you don't holler at all over small accidents, because when you do yell, you expect people to come a-runnin'.

All this is basic around the waterfront. You know it at an age when you're taught to lace and tie your shoes, how to button your shirt.

'WOLF WOLF'

It's essential knowledge for survival. Some time later you hear the story of "Wolf, wolf," which explains the reasoning behind the practice and the origin of that part of the waterfront code.

An earlier generation understood all that. But a lot of present-day youngsters haven't given it a thought—never heard anything about it.

Their ignorance was startlingly apparent this week, while sick ducks were being collected.

One group of boys—the oldest was probably nine or 10—worked over the rocks out our way and caught three ducks. In the hunt, the group scattered a little, and when the gang clambered back to the beach, one of the youngest was missing. He'd just got lost in the falling dark. But not for long.

He identified his position clearly enough with yells of sheer panic. They were cries to send a man running out of his yard toward the voice raised in an agony of terror. It was the kind of wild supplication a kid voices when somebody's in terrible distress.

CASUAL

From the beach his friends called back with complete lack of concern. The wails of anguish shrilled through the darkness. An adult, rushing up, asked the trouble. The reply was laconic.

"Aw, Mike fell in."

"Is he badly hurt?"

"I dunno. We been getting ducks. Lookut, mister."

The adult glanced hurriedly at a duck, cradled in the boy's arms, and asked again about the boy in trouble.

"He's out there," came the answer. "Lookut, mister, lookut the duck. Ya think he's croakin'?"

So the adult started off around the rocks and came across another youngster leading the accident victim to safety.

"Yeah," the leader explained, "Mike fell in a rock pool. Wearin' his best coat, too. Brand new. He's had it when he gets home."

And Mike trailed along, eyes streaming tears, nose running.

What do you do? Do you give the kid hail Columbia for yelling like a matter of life or death? Do you sail into the rest of them for letting Mike yell like that without helping him?

Or do you just shrug the whole thing off, deciding not to worry next time you hear hysteria in full voice? Maybe it's not your business. Only it could be the real thing next time and it might be your own youngster in trouble.

Alternatively, is there any way of getting through to parents to ask them to teach their youngsters waterfront ethics? Maybe. Only you can't help feeling that the old waterfront code is a little like the ailing duck: "Lookut, mister, ya think it's croakin'?"

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

The Pituitary Gland

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

As most well-read people know, the chemistry of the body is regulated largely by a series of glands, each with an internal secretion. This means that the secretion they form is poured into the blood and not into some cavity of the body. The pituitary gland, which is situated at the base of the brain, just above the roof of the nose, is often spoken of as the master gland of the body. It seems to have most to do with regulating the action of the other glands, and it has much to do with regulating our growth. It has to do with the proper development of sex in young people; in women it helps to regulate menstruation, and it can make a woman's breasts secrete milk after she has had a baby.

Alvarez

There are several parts to the pituitary gland, each with particular functions; and there are several types of cells in each part. If the growth-producing part of the pituitary gland develops wrongly, or perhaps has a small "adenoma" or tumor, in it, the victim is likely to become too big; he may even become a circus giant.

Ordinarily, he gets just a big face with a big lower jaw, a big nose, a coarse skin, and a hoarse peculiar voice that is easily recognizable. He gets big hands and feet, and perhaps a large chest. Usually he is not very handsome. In most cases the little tumor which starts all this trouble stops growing after a while, and then, for the rest of the man's days he suffers only from his bigness. Fortunately, he doesn't continue growing.

In other cases in which the pituitary gland does not function as well as it should, a boy will have what is called a Frohlich's syndrome. He will be fat and feminine-looking, with soft rounded thighs, a rather wide pelvis, and knock-knees. His external sexual organs will be very small, and his facial and body hair may fail to develop.

There are a few persons in whom the over-activity of the pituitary glands continues after puberty, and in these cases physicians generally try to quiet the gland with the help of X-rays. In rare cases in which a pituitary tumor grows so big that it starts pressing on the nerves to the eyes and causing blindness, it has to be removed surgically.

In all cases in which disease of the glands of internal secretion is suspected, X-ray films of the skull are made to see if the little "sella turcica" or turkish saddle, is enlarged or deformed. The gland lies in this saddle, and when the tissue enlarges, it pushes the bony walls apart.

Some of the most miserable tricks that are played on human beings are played when the pituitary gland makes either too much or too little secretion.

Another curious disease which is produced sometimes with disease in the pituitary gland is the so-called diabetes insipidus, or the non-sweet diabetes. In this disease the patient may pass gallons of urine every day, and, of course, he must drink gallons of water. Sometimes this over-production of urine can be stopped if the patient will use as a snuff some powdered pituitary substance.

When the pituitary gland is not functioning enough, physicians will try cortisone, corticotropin, or testosterone for a lad, and estrogens or progesterone for a girl.

ON TELLING THE TRUTH TO PATIENTS

Because of my belief that it is usually much better to tell the truth to patients than to lie to them, I was interested in an article by M. Tarlau, who reported an analysis of a questionnaire sent out by the National Multiple Sclerosis Society in which they asked people with the disease if they were satisfied that they had been told they had it. The answer given by 290 out of 327 patients was that they thought patients should be told. The people who said this felt that, knowing the truth, a patient could make a better adjustment. Also, he would worry less because he would know the worst.

Many persons said what is true, and that is that a kindly doctor will use tact in disclosing the diagnosis. He will hurry on to point out the hopeful things that are not generally known about the disease, such as that it seldom completely paralyzes and it seldom kills.

RINGWORM OF THE SCALP

Studies by Drs. Frazier and Hackett, of New Zealand, showed that there seems to be little, if any, chance of the infection being spread at school. They feel, therefore, that children with ringworm of the scalp should not be kept home from school.

They have the feeling that in many cases the infection comes from some animal such as a cat.

Striking MHF Workers Sign

TORONTO (CP)—The end of the strike of 2,500 employees at the farm implements plant of Massey-Harris-Ferguson was in sight today with announcement that the company and the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) have signed a memorandum of agreement.

The settlement proposals, not yet disclosed, will be submitted to a union meeting Sunday, said Louis Fine, Ontario's chief conciliation officer.

The tentative settlement followed a series of meetings between officials of the company and of the union in Mr. Fine's office. The final meeting was held Thursday.

PATENT LAW SOUND, COMMISSION TOLD

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's patent system in general is sound and requires no major change, the Chemical Institute of Canada today told a royal commission.

The institute said in a brief that it believes practices detrimental to the public interest or which unduly restrict competition are adequately covered by the present law.

The brief urged that the commission, which is studying patent, copyright, industrial design and trade marks law, recommend to the government that the language of the law be clarified and that judicial decisions interpreting disputed sections be written into it.

U.S. Airmen 'Confess' Crimes to China Reds

Peiping Broadcasts Purported 'Confessions' From 13 Sentenced From 4 Years to Life

TOKYO (UP)—Red China, which has ignored a U.S. protest against the jailing of 13 American airmen on "trumped-up" spy charges, today broadcast purported "confessions" of the men who were sent to prison for from four years to life.

On Wednesday, the United States government demanded that Red China's consul general in neutral Geneva accept, in person, a protest from U.S. Consul General Franklin E. Gowen against the imprisonment of the Americans.

That demand has gone unanswered.

And today Peiping radio, in a broadcast monitored here, claimed that the men concerned had "confessed" their crimes against Communist China's security in a public trial in a Red court.

In the well-known pattern of Communist "show trials" the Red radio claimed that every one of the 13 jailed Americans freely and fully confessed his guilt.

The first of the alleged confessions read on the Peiping broadcast was claimed to have been that of John Downey, an American civilian who received the most severe sentence—life imprisonment in a Chinese jail.

It quoted Downey as saying he was "trained by the Central Intelligence Agency" for his espionage operations in China.

Downey was one of two civilian passengers aboard a commercial plane of the Civil Air Transport Airlines which disappeared two years ago.

The Communist judge was quoted as asking Downey:

"Did you train other people when you were in Japan?"

Downey was quoted as saying "yes . . . I trained these people."

The "people" referred to were Chinese nationals claimed by the Peiping government to have been trained in espionage and sabotage and air-dropped on the China mainland from American planes.

"Why did you come (in person) to northeast China," the judge was quoted as asking.

"To pick up the agent Pu Ching Wu and bring him back to Japan," was Downey's alleged reply.

American authorities had warned the world in advance to expect to hear a deluge of Communist propaganda in which alleged "confessions" would be offered as "proof" of the Chinese charges.

Auto Men Ask Crackdown on Drunk Drivers

Rural Magistrates Seen 'Influenced'

VANCOUVER (CP) — A "get tough" crackdown on drunken and impaired drivers by provincial magistrates will be urged in a brief to be presented by the B.C. Automobile Association to Attorney-General Bonner.

The brief is backed by 269 provincial organizations which endorsed a resolution urging that stricter penalties be meted out to offenders.

Director G. Roy Long said the statutes governing drunken or impaired drivers are adequate but some magistrates, especially in rural districts, are subjected to pressure groups and other influences when they pass sentence on offenders.

The association also decided to send a delegation to Premier Bennett next month to determine if the government plans to reduce the vehicle license tax a further 10 per cent in the 1955 budget.

On the urging of the BCAA last year, the government reduced the tax 10 per cent—from $25 to $22.50—and told the delegation then that the tax would be cut 10 per cent in the following years until the B.C. tax was equal to Ontario's $10 levy.

Harold Crompton, Union Steamships' passenger traffic manager, was named to fill the seat on the board of directors by the recent death of Z. K. Estey.

Soviet Envoy Invited To Visit Incognito Among People of U.S.

New Yorker Asks Malik to Meet Americans From All Walks of Life

NEW YORK (UP)—This is a copy of an open telegram sent today to Jacob Malik, new chairman of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations General Assembly, by Edward E. Bates of New York City:

Mr. Jacob Malik,
Soviet Delegation to the United Nations,
680 Park Avenue,
New York City, N.Y.

As an American citizen and businessman, I extend an invitation to you to meet the people of the United States as my guest, before you take your new post as chief of the Soviet delegation in the United Nations. I invite you to visit incognito, without fanfare, without publicity, any and all places where Americans work, where they live, where they worship.

We want, as I believe your people do in the USSR, to live in peace and good-will with all the peoples of the world. Like most of my fellow-citizens, I want to prove this to you. The best way I can think of is to ask you to talk with our people on the farms, in the fields and the factories, in the mines, the logging camps, on the railroads and the shipping lanes. Wherever you choose to go as a guest, as a visitor, and observer, I want you to meet Americans in all walks of life, ex-servicemen, their mothers, fathers, sisters, wives and sweethearts. There are no warmongers, no imperialists.

If you will accept, with as many members of your staff as you would care to take, I promise that your identity will not be made known, that you may go where you choose without newspapermen in attendance, purely as a private citizen who will be accorded only the hospitality and courtesy extended anyone who wants to learn the facts about the temper of our people, their desires, their hopes, their prayers.

I would consider this a contribution to the better understanding that I believe must exist between your people and mine, if awful, utter destruction of all civilization is to be avoided. Therefore, any sacrifice that either you or I, or any other man may have to make to bring about such a trip is well worth the mere acceptance of this invitation. Respectfully submitted.

There was no immediate reaction from Malik, Soviet ambassador to London and successor at the UN to Andrei Vishinsky, who died Monday.

'Canada Not for Me,' Wails Scottish Girl

PRESTWICK, Scotland (CP)—Olympic swimmer Cathie Gibson flew home today after two lonely months in Canada.

The 23-year-old Scots girl told reporters:

"Canada was not for me, it was so different from what I expected. I was so homesick—I won't be going back."

Her mother, Mrs. James Gibson of Motherwell, Scotland, was at the airport. Mrs. Gibson sent Cathie's air fare after receiving a telegram from her daughter in Vancouver.

"I think Cathie went to Canada only because she had been brooding about the Empire Games selectors leaving her out of the team," Mrs. Gibson said.

Airline officials reported that Cathie cried throughout the trans-Atlantic flight.

Constable's Hunch Saves 3 Youngsters

Indian Lads Rescued From Burning Camp By Alert RCMP; Had Run Away From School

KENORA, Ont. (BUP)—Three adventuresome Indian boys returned to school today, grateful to an Ontario provincial police constable whose hunch saved their lives in a flaming sportsmen's camp on Big Island.

The youngsters, Roger Martin, 10, Fred Big George, 10, and Alex Big George, 12, ran away from St. Mary's School a week ago, stole a canoe and paddled the 65 miles to Big Island.

Late Thursday the canoe was sighted from the air and Constable Bob McGarva flew to the island with pilot Mel Linnel and Constable Lyle Marshal of the RCMP. McGarva had sent Linnell into the area on a hunch the boys might be on the island.

As soon as the pontoon-equipped plane landed on thin ice, McGarva saw smoke pouring from a window in the camp and, leaving the other men to pull the plane ashore, raced for the building. As he kicked open the door, clouds of smoke poured out.

One of the boys was unconscious on the floor. A second was found propped against the wall and a third was found unconscious in a bedroom.

McGarva and Linnell dragged the youngsters out into the air, wrapped them in blankets and flew them to St. Joseph's Hospital here. Dr. Peter Playfair said "they're going to be all right" and later released them to return to school.

The fire caused little damage to the camp but McGarva said "the whole place would have been levelled" if police had arrived minutes later.

Canadian Army Will Adopt Use Of Patchett Gun

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian army in all likelihood will soon adopt the British Patchett as its standard sub-machine gun in place of the Sten.

Brig. S. E. E. Moores, deputy quartermaster-general for design and development, said Thursday the Patchett will probably be manufactured in Canada.

It was understood that only settlement of the manufacting rights is holding up final adoption of the weapon.

The British army adopted the Patchett, named after its designer, about a year ago to replace the British Sten gun.

The new weapon is more reliable and lighter in weight—six pounds compared to nearly eight pounds for the Sten. The magazine of the Patchett takes 34 rounds compared to 32 for the Sten.

The weapon was given cold-weather tests at Fort Churchill, Man., last winter. Like the Sten, the Patchett fires a nine-millimetre round.

28 Children From Seattle Tour Victoria

An "educational and recreational" tour of Victoria was scheduled today for 28 members of Seattle YMCA youth division, through co-operation of Victoria publicity bureau.

The boys and girls, aged six to 12, were to arrive in the city at 1.15 p.m. from Port Angeles in care of William Warren, Seattle "Y" youth director, and after their tour enplane for home at 7.50 p.m.

Lectures on Victoria have been given to the youngsters during the past few weeks, and the tour is designed to fill in any gaps in their knowledge of the Garden City.

They will visit the legislative buildings, business section, Empress Hotel and swim in Crystal Garden before having dinner at the YMCA cafeteria.

Police Director Cleared of Contempt

MONTREAL (CP)—A charge of contempt of court against Montreal police director J. Albert Langlois was dismissed in Superior Court Thursday because "the procedure was not taken within the legal delay permitted."

The charge resulted from action taken in May, 1951, by Mr. Langlois and several other police officers to block investigation of vice conditions in Montreal by Mr. Justice Francois Caron.

MINISTER OF HEALTH AND WELFARE

VICTORIA

November 23, 1954

The cause of muscular dystrophy is not known and the need for research is most acute. Although few people know of this strange and crippling disease, more than 10,000 Canadians are suffering from the wastage and dissolving of muscle which is the effect of this ailment.

This week a country-wide campaign for funds is being carried out for the first time in Canada, although similar campaigns have been held annually in the States for the past four years.

The Canadian Firefighters in every community are, at their own expense, sponsoring the national campaign the funds of which will be used on much needed research as well as relief and aid for the patients.

I urge every citizen to give his full support to this appeal which is a most worthy one.

MINISTER

HEALTH MINISTER BACKS FIREMEN—Health minister Eric Martin lauded efforts of city and district firemen this week. The smoke-eaters will give up their leisure time tonight to conduct a canvass in aid of muscular dystrophy victims. Over 100 men will ring doorbells in a three-hour drive beginning at 6 p.m. Fire trucks will be used to publicize the drive. The firemen are sharing in an international effort to raise funds for research that might stop the disease. There are 10,000 victims in Canada, 7,000 children are incurables.

Editor Claims Canada Needs French Element

Importance of a French language and culture in Canada was stressed by Gerald Filion, publisher of the Montreal daily, Le Devoir, who addressed L'Alliance Francaise Wednesday.

He said everything should be done to preserve and encourage the French element since it is capable of contributing much to the over-all Canadian culture.

The French in Canada have been made aware lately that they can produce such things, due partly to the advances in radio, television and movies, the publisher said.

A common knowledge across Canada of the two languages and customs would make a stronger Canada, he felt.

Co-Op Movement Major Factor In U.K. Trade

Co-operative organizations in England embrace everything from the sale of vegetables and fruit to the handling of house repairs and funerals, members of the local Co-Op Store, 618 Pandora, were told Thursday.

Mrs. M. S. Martin, councilwoman of the Darlington Co-operative in County Durham, England, told the group that 22 per cent of the population of England, some 11,000,000 persons, belonged to some form of co-op.

People may even go to college under a co-operative scheme. Stanford is open to all who are interested in the movement. It features a theatre, swimming tank, and playing field, and provides all necessary educational facilities.

Because of the advance of the co-op system in England, she said, a weekly co-op newspaper with an 850,000 circulation, would soon become a daily.

Vishinsky's Ashes Rest In Kremlin

Malenkov Among Guard of Honor

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Andrei Vishinsky was given a state funeral in Moscow's Red Square today.

A casket containing the ashes of the statesman, who died in New York Monday, was deposited in the Kremlin wall, behind the mausoleum where the bodies of Lenin and Stalin lie.

The long lines of Muscovites which began to file past Vishinsky's remains Thursday were still forming today in the snow-covered square.

The urn was carried from the Hall of Columns in Trade Union House to the burial site to the tune of funeral marches, accompanied by a long procession.

The body of Russia's chief delegate to the United Nations had been removed from the historic hall for cremation during the night, according to an official announcement.

The ashes were returned after the cremation to the flag-draped hall where Stalin lay in state 21 months ago.

Premier Malenkov headed the state leaders who stood for five minutes as a guard of honor beside the bier Thursday night.

Beside him were Soviet President Klimenti Voroshilov and Foreign Minister Molotov, as well as Nikita Khrushchev, first secretary of the Communist Party, and Marshal Nikolai Bulgainin, defense minister.

Rain, Gales Batter Britain

LONDON (AP) — Rain-laden gales sweeping in from the Atlantic brought widespread floods to southwest England and the Midlands today.

Winds of 60 miles an hour prevented the liner Queen Mary from leaving Southampton with 800 passengers for New York. Some 400 more passengers due to be picked up at Cherbourg were told the liner would probably be delayed until Saturday.

Flood waters covered dozens of roads in the southwestern counties of Cornwall, Devon and Somerset. More roads were blocked in four north Midland counties. Hundreds of motorists had to abandon their cars to wait for the waters to subside.

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..
Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on 'nerves'—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. AN HONORARY DEGREE, his 81st, was conferred Thursday on former U.S. president Herbert Hoover ot the ancient University of Tuebingen, founded in 1477. He warned students who had cheered him through the streets to beware of Communists seeking to destroy western freedoms by infiltration and conspiracy. Mr. Hoover is here pictured being welcomed on his arrival at Bonn, West German capital, by Chancellor Konrad Adenaur.

War Dangers Decrease Hoover Tells Germans

BERLIN (UP)—Former president Herbert Hoover said today the dangers of war have decreased but Communism still is trying to "destroy the very foundations of civilization."

The 80-year-old ex-president called for moral and spiritual resistance to Communism with religion the "first bastion" of defense. He spoke to West Berlin and Allied officials at the West Berlin city hall on the last day of his six-day visit to West Germany and this western outpost surrounded by Communist territory.

"The city of Berlin is on the front line of the cold war," Mr. Hoover said at a banquet in his honor given by the city.

"You are combat soldiers in that war. Should it, which God forbid, ever become a hot war, you would be the first to face the enemy.

"Thus you, more than others, have the right to feel a sense of relief that the tensions of imminent war have sensibly decreased during recent months. We can only speculate upon the outcome of this change in Moscow's protestations."

However, he warned that the west must wait for "more particulars" before accepting Communist assurances of good will.

Mr. Hoover was honored by a military review at United States army headquarters and visited a West Berlin children's home where refugees from the Soviet zone are taught their first lessons in western democracy.

New Cancer Home Planned on Mainland

VANCOUVER (BUP) — The British Columbia Cancer Foundation Thursday received $145,000 of a $160,000 grant from the British Columbia division of the Canadian Cancer Society to aid in the construction of a $250,000 36-bed addition to the institute headquarters here.

Mau Mau Set Fire To Hotel; Two Guests Burned

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—Mau Mau terrorists set fire to a hotel full of sleeping people here early today. Two persons were badly burned.

The anti-white cultists poured kerosene over the porch of the building and set it alight. An English railroad official and his wife broke open the window of their room and jumped naked through the flames. They were reported in dangerous condition.

Their screams awoke the other guests, who fled in their night clothes.

The British security troops surrounded the area and arrested 71 Africans on suspicion.

The hotel, the Salisbury, is only a mile from the centre of Nairobi.

INFANT FLOWN TO HOSPITAL

PORT ALBERNI — Mrs. Roger Schell of Tofino and her premature son arrived here Thursday by chartered Pacific Western Airlines from Tofino.

The baby was born Thursday and was placed in an incubator for the trip. His father serves with the RCAF at Tofino.

Identification Ends 6-Month Police Job

NANAIMO (BUP)—Work of the RCMP in identifying a man drowned in the Georgia Strait was praised by a coroner's jury here.

The jury ruled that the body, found in the water near the Harmac pulp mill, June 5, was that of Walter Keillor, 54, of Cloverdale.

The RCMP spent six months in identifying Keillor. Identification was finally established by a comparison of handwriting made at the RCMP crime laboratory at Regina. A scribbled note in the dead man's pocket was written in the same handwriting as a letter sent by Keillor to his wife at Mission.

VICTORIA MLA OBJECTS

Kaiser Dam Scheme 'Poor Deal' for B.C.

NANAIMO — The Liberal party is opposed to the Castlegar Dam at the foot of the Arrow Lakes because of the "poor deal" the province would be getting if the project goes through, George Gregory, MLA, told Nanaimo Liberal Association members here Thursday night.

He said the federal government regards water power as a capital resource and as such it should not be exported, save in exceptional cases, when it expects a 50-50 return.

"Water power should be developed for Canadians," he said. "It may be that this Castlegar proposition is one of these special cases. Then we must share 50-50."

Among objections, he said, were the "pitifully small return for use of water power and storage basin," a return which he said would give B.C. 20 per cent of the power developed and $270,000 a year in taxes.

He contended the natural resources belonging to the province, and placed at the disposal of U.S. industry, were worth at least as much as the $25 million Kaiser is investing.

"The whole scheme is improvident," he said. "We must look to the future. Canada and the U.S. agree there is not enough water power on the continent to serve the needs of both nations."

"This province should get at least as large a proportion of the power as U.S. interests," he said. He doubted Premier Bennett's estimate of the cost of the dam, $30,000,000.

"This dam isn't going to cost $10,000,000," he said.

Sale of power to Kaiser interests would affect Alcan's investment at Kitimat, and put the Canadian company at a competitive disadvantage on world markets, he said.

"Kaiser will get power at less than half the cost of power to Kitimat," he said.

Final objection was the fact that the proposed agreement would grant the power for 50 years with rights of renewal "practically in perpetuity."

"Ottawa will oppose this move even at the risk of providing political ammunition for the Bennett government, because it is not in the best interests of this province nor of Canada," he said.

CHEMAINUS — The Chemainus Kinsmen Club has endorsed a project to raise funds to purchase a fracture bed for the local hospital.

Jury Proposes Test Cars on Log Trains

PORT ALBERNI—A coroner's jury convened by Dr. N. H. Jones, inquiring into the deaths by drowning of Engineer Edward Crosby and Brakeman Einar Erickson, at the Franklin River Camp "A" bridge on Nov. 19, returned a verdict that no blame was to be attached to anyone. But a rider was added that at times of high water and storm a logging locomotive should be pushing in front of it four or five loaded cars.

Several witnesses, employees of MacMillan & Bloedel Limited, were called by RCMP Sgt. F. H. Brooksbank. Testimony indicated that the bridge and track were in good order prior to the time when the logging locie tumbled off the bridge into the stream, taking the two crew men to their death. A third man, Fireman Stan Malachowski, was pulled from the swollen river and suffered injuries.

LOG JAM REMOVED

A small log jam which had piled up against one of the bridge bents had been removed on orders from camp foreman Jack Bell.

Inspector of railways for the B.C. government, R. E. Swanson, told the jury of his inspection of the piles and track remaining after the accident. Using a small model locomotive, he demonstrated the manner in which he considered the logging locie had acted as it rolled off the bridge, struck against one concrete bent, and finally came to a rest with wheels upstream.

Photographs and diagrams were passed among the jurymen, Foreman Giling Ram, Pete Crozier, Harvey Walters, R. Hunter, Carl Ashelm and Harry Boardman.

North Cowichan Purchases New Snow Equipment

Works supervisor will receive $4,800 per year, with yearly increments of $120, up to a maximum of $6,000. Roads superintendent will receive $3,600 per year, with annual increments of $100 per year, up to a maximum of $4,600.

Nanaimo Mother Given 18-Month Probation

NANAIMO — Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts placed a young local mother on 18 months' probation following conviction on two charges of breaking and entering homes.

She also was ordered to post a $500 bond.

The magistrate asked that her name be withheld because the offense was her first.

According to evidence, she walked along Victoria Road, and when she saw people leave their homes, she entered and stole small articles.

"I don't know what came me," she said. "It's the first time I've ever done anything like it, and it will be the last."

She was warned that the maximum penalty for the offense was life imprisonment.

NANAIMO PROGRAM SET FOR CENTENARY SHOW

Descendants of the pioneers have been invited, and about 200 will attend.

Organizations responsible for the celebration are Nanaimo Pioneers' Society, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Nanaimo Branch of the B.C. Historical Association, Native Sons and Daughters and Malaspina Chapter, IODE.

Two Duncan Aldermen Seek Re-Election to City Council

DUNCAN — Two city aldermen, R. K. Cairns and James F. LeQuesne, will seek re-election to the city council Dec. 9.

It is likely that they will have the support of Mayor J. C. Wragg.

A third candidate will be Unto "Pete" Helin, resident of Duncan for 16 years and member of the board of King's Daughters' Hospital for the last three years.

A possible candidate is Gilbert Thom, who said this week that he had not yet made up his mind whether or not to enter the contest. Member of a well-known Chinese family nere, he is manager of a local clothing store and active Junior Chamber of Commerce official.

Auto dealer N. R. Morrison also is considering entering the council race, but has made no announcement.

Two members of North Cowichan council, George Whittaker and J. G. Pinson, whose terms of office expire this year, will be candidates in the municipal election.

Businessman Aldermanic Candidate

NANAIMO—John Cook, a former partner in the Imperial Laundry and Dry Cleaners Ltd. that was sold recently to Vancouver interests, will run for alderman here Dec. 9.

Dr. Sam Jurors View 'Trail of Blood'

Sensational Murder Trial Continues; Susan Hayes Takes Stand Next Week

By H. D. QUIGG

CLEVELAND, (UP)—The Sheppard murder trial jury viewed today 16 pictures of what a police laboratory expert testified was "a trail of blood" throughout the Sheppard home.

The photographs, entered as state exhibits, were passed from juror to juror. They showed chalk-marked circles around the dried brown flecks which trailed around the living room, up and down stairs, into a guest's bedroom, and, surprisingly, into the garage that adjoins the house.

Although the expert, Henry E. Dombrowski, used the phrase "trail of blood" in first testifying about the spots when he described each picture in detail, he said benzidine tests showed "it could be blood."

Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard is accused by the state of bludgeoning his wife, Marilyn, 31, to death in her bed last July 4 after quarreling with her about his affairs with Susan Hayes, 24, a laboratory technician, and other women.

Miss Hayes will be the climax witness when the state winds up its case about the middle of next week.

Dombrowski, an expert in chemistry and physics in the laboratory of the police scientific investigation bureau, had testified Wednesday that he found human blood on the third step from the basement floor. The state was trying to show that the killer dripped blood through all parts of the house and wiped up much of it. Dr. Sheppard says he was knocked unconscious by the killer and then chased him out of the house.

The state contends an intruder bent on burglary would not have wandered about the house after the crime, and particularly would not have gone into the basement.

However, if all marks shown in today's exhibits turned out to be Mrs. Sheppard's blood, the killer must have been in a search for something or else wandering in a daze.

Loons, familiar to many Canadian lakes, are good swimmers and divers but practically helpless on the ground.

Sask. Employment Picture 'Worst Since Depression'

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (BUP)—William Davies, secretary of the Saskatchewan Federation of Labor, said today that the unemployment picture for the coming winter in Saskatchewan was "the worst" since the depression of the 1930's.

Davies, who also is a Moose Jaw alderman, said one reason for the poor outlook was the fact that the federal government had failed "to keep its promise" to look after able-bodied persons who are unemployed.

He said the government committed itself to do so at the last Dominion-Provincial conference.

NEW SCHOOLS

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver school board has awarded two contracts totalling $315,000 for construction of two elementary school additions. The projects are part of a multi-million dollar program to provide 25 elementary classrooms and two new junior-senior high schools for 1955.

CITY WOMAN SUES CPR OVER SPOUSE'S DEATH

VANCOUVER (CP) — Suit for unstated damages against the CPR has been started in Supreme Court here by Mrs. Vera McCrindle, 37, of Victoria, for the death of her husband.

Kenneth Gordon McCrindle, chief petty officer of HMCS Sioux, was drowned Oct. 12, 1952, when the car in which he was a passenger drove off a dock into Burrard Inlet. He was returning to his ship at the time.

The CPR has been charged with failing to keep the wharf properly lighted and guarded.

Let's keep Christmas

We call friends "hard to shop for" — yet who does not need love, consideration, a helping hand? We "can't feel the Christmas spirit" — yet who cannot rejoice at Jesus' coming?

In December Reader's Digest, Peter Marshall (subject of A Man Called Peter) tells how we can keep Christmas' glory in our homes — and in our hearts.

Be sure to read this pertinent message on the real meaning of Christmas in December Reader's Digest. It's just one of 35 articles of lasting interest, condensed from leading magazines and current books.

GROUP OF FRIENDS FORMED

Rate of Library Borrowings Lags Behind Population Growth

Effect of modern entertainment media on reading habits was raised as a matter of concern at a meeting of the Victoria Library Board Thursday.

"TV is no substitute for books," Capt. D. J. Proudfoot submitted. "There is no substitute for books."

Capt. Proudfoot raised the question since, he said, library circulation figures did not reflect the growth in Greater Victoria's population. He said, too, that three out of every five books taken from the library were in the fiction category; not intended to provoke serious thought.

The board named Capt. Proudfoot and Prof. Robert Wallace as a committee of two to promote good reading habits and greater use of library services.

The board acknowledged with appreciation work of a similar nature already being undertaken by a group of citizens who call themselves "Friends of the Library."

Prof. Roger Bishop, professor of English at Victoria College, wrote the board on behalf of the Friends, stating their purpose was to stimulate greater interest in the library by all citizens.

By BILL WALKER

Golf has come a long way since shepherds whilst tending flocks used to belt stones for distance with their crooks.

To get almost up to date in a hurry by passing the Hollanders of the 14th century, who claimed their knob-ended walking sticks were also golf clubs, there came the hickory shaft. And that isn't too long ago for most not to remember.

You may even have a cherished old-timer in your basement, warped and bent though it may be from age.

Then came the steel shaft, guaranteed to add 15-20 yards to every shot, and virtually unbreakable. It got that extra distance too.

But even they soon will be of a style forgotten. For e'er long you'll be out of date unless you tote GLASS-shafted clubs in your bag. That's right, Glass!

They've been tried before and found wanting in some respects. But this, apparently, is the real thing.

The Pro-Made Company of Vancouver has announced that glass-shafted clubs will be on the market by the New Year. The Vancouver firm is working in conjunction with Golf Craft, a similar industry, in the United States.

Lloyd Gives Okay

Production of the new clubs, which will bear the name of Lloyd Mangrum, is in full swing. And surely a fellow like Mangrum wouldn't put his name to something unless it had possibilities of unlimited nature.

The new clubs have been tested by several leading professionals in the States and have been passed as better than satisfactory.

As the steel shaft added distance to drives, so the glass shaft is guaranteed to do likewise, providing, of course, you hit the ball.

The new clubs are described as unbreakable and, in proof, have been tested with sledgehammers and facsimiles with approved results. There is also a thin steel shaft about 1/32nd of an inch thick running down the centre of the new clubs to provide a base for the club head.

Here's the Rub

Prices will be higher than the existing standard for steel-shafted clubs.

For example, a registered set of woods soon will cost approximately $100 as compared to $80 at present, while a set of irons will test the pocketbook up to $140, compared to $114 for steel (check with your pro on this).

The new clubs will undoubtedly help, but, like fishing, the guy on the end of the pole still has the last word.

★ ★ ★

Locally, things are quiet as would be expected under existing weather conditions.

The Bryant Trophy two-ball semifinals go at Colwood this week-end.

★ ★ ★

Sunday at Victoria Club, Frank Scroggs and Bob Morrison will put their buttons on the tee against the challenge of Bob Fleming and John Merriman of Gorge Vale. Tee-time is 12.30, weather permitting.

★ ★ ★

Local simon-pures would be advised to look more to their laurels than ever before from this date forward. Laurie Kerr, once the assistant pro at Colwood, has got his amateur standing back again and will be eligible to compete in any and all tournaments as such.

This could spell trouble with a capital "T" as Laurie long has been recognized as the equal of any amateur in the province.

★ ★ ★

Eric Hibberson is soon to make a return to the game he plays so well when the desire hits him. Eric and Bob Hunt, the latter the best junior in sight in town, will make their appeal for the buttons in three weeks.

★ ★ ★

Walter Gravlin's comments on the glass shafts were: "They'll be something pretty big in golf."

★ ★ ★

The John Paynter who rapped in an eagle two on Uplands' 12th hole and followed with birdies on 13 and 14 is a brother to Elizabeth Paynter, the former up-coming Colwood performer — before she took to skiing.

'Dad' Does It Up Proud In Big Cougar Premiere

Victoria 5, Saskatoon 2

Thursday was quite a day for the Cougars—and Dad. And if the boys are celebrating just a little today they've got reason enough, especially Ed Dorohoy.

For this was a day of firsts.

In the morning Mrs. Ed Dorohoy (Shirley) presented her husband with a baby daughter, their FIRST.

At night the Cougars trimmed Saskatoon Quakers, 5-2, their FIRST Western Hockey League win ever in league competition at Saskatoon.

FOUR POINTS

At night, too, Ed Dorohoy celebrated his paternal position by getting two goals and two assists to move into a second-place tie with Sid Finney in the league scoring race. Each has 30 points. League leader Bronco Horvath has 35. Dorohoy and Horvath are now tied for FIRST in assists, each with 18.

At night Andy Hebenton got two goals to move him into a tie with Horvath for FIRST place in goals scored, each with 17.

Victory also moved the Cougars into fourth place, two points ahead of Vancouver Canucks who meet New Westminster Royals tonight.

In addition it was the Cougars' fifth win in six games, their seventh in 10 outings, and put them three points behind first-place Edmonton Flyers, who meet Calgary Stampeders tonight.

Hebenton sniped the first two markers in the first period. Dorohoy and Gene Achtymichuk upped the ante to 4-0 in the third before the Quakers replied through Len Haley and Ray Manson. Then Dorohoy got his second counter, scoring in an empty net as the Quakers took the long gamble, pulling goalie Doug Stevenson when two goals down.

The only other Cougar victory on Saskatoon ice came in the 1952-53 playoffs.

Idle tonight, the Cougars meet Saskatoon again Saturday.

AUSSIES LEAD

Hutton Guesses Wrong

BRISBANE (AP) — England's cricket captain, Len Hutton, gambled and lost today on the opening day of the first cricket test in a series of five against Australia.

At close of play for the day, Australia had scored 208 runs for the loss of only two wickets.

Hutton, eager to retain the "Ashes" England won last year, won the toss and sent Australia in to bat first, hoping for a few quick wickets from the fiery pitch at Brisbane cricket ground.

But the Australian openers, Les Favell and Arthur Morris, stood up to the opening speed-bowling attack and knocked up 51 runs before Favell was out.

After lunch, Morris and Keith Miller attacked the English bowling and both hit Alec Bedser for a six.

England was unlucky in two ways for today's test. Their star wicketkeeper, Godfrey Evans, was down with influenza and unable to play. And their crack batsman, Denis Compton, fielding on the bounadry, ran into a fence and broke a finger. He will be unable to play further in this test.

About 20,000 spectators saw today's play.

PEREZ WINS FLYWEIGHT RING TITLE

TOKYO (AP) — Tiny Pascual Perez of Argentina won the world's flyweight boxing championship tonight by punching Yoshio Shirai of Japan into submission before 15,000 Tokyo fans.

Perez battered the heavier and rangier Japanese into a stumbling daze in the outdoor match in Korakuen baseball park.

Perez, trailing after 11 rounds, punched out his decision in the last four. He knocked Shirai down in the 12th with a stunning left uppercut and jarred him into a fumbling wreck in the last three.

Dog Fanciers To Present Show Dec. 4

The last sanction show of the year will be staged by the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers Association on December 4 at the Crystal Garden. The events which start at 7.30 sharp will be judged by Ken Rickman of Sidney.

An interesting highlight will be a display of 23 dogs showing their first results of civil defense training. In charge of the display will be Mrs. Mellish of Royal Oak.

Junior and senior puppy's open classes of all breeds will be judged following the children's handling and green class for dogs.

It is reported that the show will be televised.

Ohio State Grid Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Ohio State University, ruler of the Big Ten, heads the Associated Press weekly football pool Tuesday for the second straight week. If the Buckeyes can remain No. 1 in the final pool next week, they'll become the mythical national champions for the second time since the AP ranking were inaugurated in 1936.

After Ohio State came UCLA, Oklahoma, Notre Dame, Army, Navy, Mississippi, Wisconsin, Baylor and Maryland to round out the top 10.

Grand National Winners Sold

DUBLIN (AP)—Two winners of England's Grand National steeplechase, rated the world's toughest jumping race, were sold Wednesday by bankrupt owner Joe Griffin for a total of $17,346.

Major Cyril Hall, the Aga Khan's Irish racing manager, paid $11,466 for Royal Tan, winner of this year's Grand National. Early Mist, the 1953 winner, went to Dublin trainer James A. Nangan for $5,880.

Short-Priced Esks Quietly Confident

Soggy Field Forecast For Grey Cup Grid Final

By RAY TIMSON

TORONTO (BUP)—Unable to understand the 5-1 odds against them, the Edmonton Eskimos scheduled a light drill at a "secret" field today as the confident Alouettes did the same in Montreal before boarding a train for Toronto and Saturday's Grey Cup final.

Fans from both competing cities rolled into town shortly after dawn and launched into the whoop-de-doo that won't end until early Sunday when the game will have been replayed a thousand times by exuberant winners and excuse-offering losers at jammed hotels city-wide.

Chief forecaster Fred Turnbull, although concerned over a storm veering this way from the west, stuck to his earlier predictions that kick-off time at 10 p.m. (PST) Saturday will see northwesterly winds, about 40-degree temperatures and a risk of showers or light snow.

The elegant Eskimos, attired in fashionable three-quarter-length gray coats and stetsons to match, arrived by plane at 9.25 Thursday night, about three hours and 45 minutes late. Engine trouble delayed them two hours at Edmonton and rough weather en route slowed them again.

Frank (Pop) Ivy, coach of the western champions quickly transported his team to the posh Guild of All Arts on the city's eastern outskirts where they were bedded down for a long needed nap. The late arrival cancelled a downtown press conference he had agreed to attend.

Gamblers May Be Right, But . . .

At Malton Airport, however, besieged by newsmen and photographers, Ivy listened intently to reports that the Alouettes were prohibitive favorites to crush his club by at least 13 points and smilingly said: "The gamblers usually know what they're doing."

Bernie Faloney, all-American quarterback from the University of Maryland, seemed surprised at the lack of respect easterners had for the Eskimos and observed quietly:

"They don't think very much of us down here, do they?"

Ivy said he planned a light workout today, but he didn't know "exactly where" it would be held.

It certainly was not to be held at Varsity Stadium, into which 27,000 fans will shoulder after shelling out approximately $150,000. The stadium, although covered by the famed $12,000 tarpaulin, was reported greasy and muddy from two days of light rain and the fact it was wet when the covering was put down last Monday.

A clean field was deemed essential for the elaborate telecasting planned for this year's game. Cameras focussed on the clean colors of the clubs will carry the contest to approximately 50,000,000 people watching television sets in 22 Canadian and 70 American cities. The cost of the video presentation was estimated at $100,000.

Ivy was very much interested in the condition of the field, as Douglas (Peahead) Walker was expected to be when he brought his Alouettes to town about 9.15 tonight aboard the afternoon train from Montreal. The coaches must name the nine imports they'll use before game-time, and Ivy said as if for both of them:

"It will depend on the condition of the field."

Faloney, the slick ball-handler who operates almost exclusively from the split-T, was asked point-blank about eastern reports that his highly-publicized knees weren't too strong for the game.

After a slight pause, he answered:

"They're about as good as can be expected."

There was a suspicion of unhappiness in his reply.

Orphans To Host Adanacs

Howie Tooby's orphaned senior A men's basketball team, staggering under the burden of financial difficulties, may sink or swim depending on Saturday night's gate receipts.

Tooby's club is scheduled to make its second intercity start Saturday night at the new Central Junior High School gym when it goes against New Westminster Adanacs in an exhibition contest.

The club, unable to locate a sponsor, has lost money on two previous games here and the future of the team will probably depend on receipts Saturday, team manager Earl Ward said today.

Big John Clark will again lead the club into battle this Saturday, the only line-up changes being that Barry Jackson and Jack Sim will not strip for the contest.

Adanacs boast a six-foot, four-inch centre in George Catherall and have several other players over the six-foot mark.

Other players on the mainland team are Bill Jobb, Jack Lewko, Don Purvis, Alex Rilkoff, Bob Ramsay, Frank Schiedel and Bob Tole.

Vampires and Cec Fletchers of the senior B league meet in an exhibition contest at 7, with the feature game commencing at 8.

Davis Meets Bassett Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Teddy "Red Top" Davis, probably the losingest boxing contender of all time, and punching Percy Bassett, the leading challenger, collide in a 12-round televised bout tonight for the right to meet featherweight champion Sandy Saddler in a title fight.

Although he has 47 defeats on his record, Davis is rated even money in the betting to whip the hard-hitting Philadelphian in Madison Square Garden.

Barbell Club

New executive of YMCA Barbell Club includes Lawrence Macrae, president; Bill McDonald, vice-president; Fred Atherley, secretary-treasurer.

Atherley is also coach, assisted by Brian Johnson.

The club, recently reorganized, has an active membership of 26 weightlifters, who will compete during the next 12 months for two trophies—one for the best novice of the year, the other for the best performance of veteran weightlifters.

Football Enjoys Best Year Yet; Intercity Games Likely in '55

By DENNY BOYD

Oak Bay Drakes and HMCS Venture wore the crowns, but everyone from the league president down to the lowliest water boy shared in the regal success of the 1954 Canadian football season in Victoria. And better things should be in store for next year.

With two leagues, embracing seven teams and over 250 players, Canadian football enjoyed its greatest season here and gained a spot where it has become one of the most popular of the winter sports.

Oak Bay Drakes, who went through a futile season last year without winning a game, finished off a successful intermediate season by winning both the city and B.C. championships.

Drakes, coached by Fred French and Walt Pumphries, defeated Ray Mitchell's smart Mayo Vampires in the two-game total-point series for the city crown.

With Navy, last year's junior league powerhouse, unable to stay with Drakes and Vampires, the two city teams waged a spirited battle all season. Vampires had the edge during the season, but Drakes had little trouble winning the playoffs.

Drakes themselves were belted when they played a post-season two-game series with Vancouver Cubs, intermediate farm team of the B.C. Lions. It is possible that Cubs will play regular games with city teams next year. It is also hoped to have one or two teams from up-Island entered in the city league.

In the junior league, two service clubs provided the class and they weren't separated until last Saturday, when HMCS Venture, a newcomer to local grid circles, defeated Royal Roads in a sudden-death final.

The two civilian teams—Oak Bay and C & C Taxi—did not have the guns to cope with the services teams.

There was some bitterness locally when the winner of the Vancouver junior league was named automatic B.C. champion. The Victoria league was not recognized by the Western Interprovincial Football Union, with the result that the league was excluded from provincial championship competition.

However, an effort is already under way to form a B.C. football union.

Dame Justice often uses ironic twists when she asserts herself. But seldom has she employed such ironic devices to preserve her cause than in a story we heard this week.

We can't vouch for the authenticity of this story. We don't know the names of the principles. We do know the location but we will not mention it. If the story is true—and we don't doubt but what it is—it may serve as a warning to anyone who is inclined to forget the rules of behavior when he is not under the close scrutiny of city life.

It concerns two parties of hunters, both hunting deer in the same immediate area.

The first two hunters flushed a deer and one of them picked the animal off just as it was disappearing over a small knoll. It fell out of their sight but they knew it had been hit well.

They hurried to find the kill, picking their way through some scrub but when they got to the crest of the knoll, they saw two other hunters leaning over the dead animal, fastening deer tags to the carcass.

The first two hunters immediately asked the second pair what they were doing, tagging a deer that did not belong to them. The answer was, "What the hell do you mean. We shot this deer."

The argument waxed hotter and hotter and an out-and-out fight seemed inevitable. However, the first two hunters, realizing that a fight between parties who were carrying firearms could have fatal consequences, swallowed their pride and walked off, still burning with indignant anger.

The two parties took the same route away from the scene of the kill, just a few yards apart.

As they were walking away, both parties were hailed by a game warden, who inspected the dead deer.

The game warden said to the second pair of hunters, "Is this your deer?"

The hunters answered, "Yup, those are our tags."

The game warden said, "Well fellas, it was nice of you to admit it but this is a doe and it isn't a year old. You boys are in trouble."

One of the hunters being questioned blurted, "Well, actually, this isn't our deer. Those two guys over there shot it."

"Well," asked the game warden, "Aren't those your tags on the deer?"

"Yes . . . but . . .", floundered the hunter.

The argument ended shortly after. The apprehended hunters had their rifles confiscated and will receive a summons to court. They will pay, but not for their original crime.

And of course there is the story about the party of hunters who drove up a farmer's drive-way to ask permission to hunt his land.

One of the hunters knocked at the door and was cordially greeted by the farmer who said, "Sure you can hunt on my land. But I wish you'd do me a favor. There's an old horse out in my pasture by your car. He's sway-backed and spavined and his days are numbered. I haven't a gun so I wish you would put him out of his misery."

The hunter, a joker at heart, thanked the farmer and went back to the car.

His companions asked him what luck he had met.

"Ahh," he said, "That cranky old ——— told us to get off his land or he'd call the law. But I'll fix him."

And with that he raised his rifle and drilled the poor old horse, sending it to happier pastures.

They say that car was just a blur leaving the farmer's yard and that the sharp-shooter's companions thought he had left his senses when he roared with laughter all the way back to town.

Army-Navy Contest Tops College Grid

NEW YORK (AP)—The waning college football season takes its final deep breath Saturday.

Action is skimpy but important. Heading the program, of course, is the Army-Navy game, which will be played before more than 100,000 in Philadelphia. Always a spectacle, this year's contest is more important than usual because the winner will be rated the unofficial champion of the east.

Bowl-wise, they still need a host team for the Orange Bowl, two teams for the Sugar Bowl and the visiting outfit for the Cotton Bowl.

Nebraska has been installed as the Orange Bowl visitor. The Atlantic Coast Conference will take a vote after Saturday's games to decide its representative. If Duke beats North Carolina, the Blue Devils will win the title and the voting will be a mere formality.

If North Carolina wins, then Maryland will take the title and should get the nomination.

The Sugar Bowl nomination traditionally goes to the Southeastern Conference winner and Mississippi can take it by whipping Mississippi State.

Baylor can tie Arkansas for Southwest Conference Crown by getting past Rice. But Arkansas already has been selected for the Cotton Bowl on the basis of having beaten Baylor earlier in the season.

Army is a slight favorite over Navy, although the two teams appear almost evenly matched on paper. The cadets have a 7-1 mark and the middies 6-2.

CRUSHING VICTORY

Maryland Makes Bid For Bowl

(BY UNITED PRESS)

Mighty Maryland went touchdown-happy in an effort to impress the Orange Bowl selection committee while Cornell, Denver and Wichita clinched conference championships in the biggest football games on Thanksgiving Day.

Maryland, Orange Bowl loser last New Year's Day, tried its best to earn a return trip to the Miami, Fla., extravaganza by crushing Missouri, 74-13, before a delighted throng of 20,000 at College Park, Md., and a national television audience.

Cornell finished in a tie with Yale for the ivy group championship by handing Pennsylvania its ninth straight defeat, 20-6. Denver clinched the skyline conference championship with a 34-0 triumph over Colorado A. and M.

Sawchuk Scores Third Consecutive Shutout

Detroit 2, Toronto 0; Montreal 3, Chicago 2
New York 2, Boston 2

Toronto Maple Leafs will be the first to admit that goaltender Terry Sawchuk of Detroit Red Wings is back to his old tricks in the National Hockey League.

The impervious Mr. Sawchuck wrote his sixth shutout of the season in his record book as the Red Wings blanked Leafs 2-0 in Detroit Thursday night.

It was Sawchuck's third shutout in a row and the Detroit win broke a second-place tie and dumped Leafs into third place. Terry shut out Chicago Black Hawks twice last weekend.

Sawchuck's netminding now adds up to 204 scoreless minutes. He has allowed only 30 goals in 19 games.

Meanwhile, Montreal Canadiens maintained their five-point grip on first place by nipping Black Hawks 3-2 with a third-period rally in Chicago. New York Rangers and Boston Bruins tied 2-2 at Boston. It left New York three points in front of the fifth-place Bruins.

The Detroit victory marked the first time in three games that Red Wings have been able to beat Leaf netminder Harry Lumley.

The last two meetings were 1-0 victories for Toronto. This time Detroit took an early lead on Alex Delvechio's goal at 15.08 of the first period and bothered Lumley all night. Harry handled 39 shots to Sawchuck's 26. The insurance goal was fired by Ted Lindsay into an empty net in the third period after Leafs yanked Lumley in favor of a sixth attacker.

Canadiens were forced to go the limit against Hawks. Tuesday night they managed a 4-4 tie against the league tail-enders in St. Louis and Thursday night trailed 2-1 at the end of the second period.

The Montreal firing power broke out in the final 20 minutes as Bernie Geoffrion and Maurice Richard scored.

Layne Sparks Lions; Walker Tops Scorers

DETROIT (UP) — Bobby Layne passed for two touchdowns, the 100th and 101st of his national football league career, and defensive specialist Jack Christiansen added the other two Thursday to give the Detroit Lions a 28-24 victory over the Green Bay Packers.

The four-point triumph, Detroit's second by that margin over the Packers in five days, moved the Lions to within one victory of the Western Division title and a crack at an unprecedented third straight league championship.

A crowd of 55,532, plus a nationwide television audience, saw Green Bay lose a possible winning touchdown late in the fourth period when Al Carmichael broke into the open only to drop Tobin Rote's perfect pass at the Detroit 35-yard line.

WALL STREET INDEX TO TOP 450?

Back in '48 He Guessed Right, Market Expert Now Ups Sights

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—Wall Street iconoclasts would like to know what chart experts do in unchartered territory.

The chartists answer right back that no territory is charted ahead. The market may have gone over the same ground long before. They hold each market is different and it requires new navigation procedures.

Let's see what can be done by the chart experts. Take one of them—Edmund W. Tabell, chartist for Walston & Co. Back in September of 1948, he did some charting on the market ahead.

At that time the industrial average was about 200 points under where it is now. Tabell hauled off and took a big look.

He foresaw an upsurge in the middle 1950's—right now—which he said would carry the industrial average above 386. He added a lot to that figure and mentioned a possible goal of 450.

Recently he has lifted his sights to above 450 in the not too distant future.

"The objective of 450 for the ultimate advance," Tabell said back in 1948, "seems fantastic now, but only because of the present depressed mental state.

"Percentagewise the advances are quite in line with the moves of the market over the past 60 years. It must be remembered that this country still is in a long-term upward growth channel. My predictions may eventually turn out to be quite conservative."

Just now the market is financed by a mere $1,700,000,000, only a fraction of what was outstanding in brokerage loans in 1929—a total of $8,549,000,000. The latter was less than 10 per cent of the market value of all listed securities.

If the current borrowings would rise to 10 per cent of valuation of all listed shares, the total loans would be around $16,000,000,000. The experts say the brokers' loan total will rise but will not reach the total.

Just now the little fellows are giving the market a good scanning. They don't care if values are there or not just so somebody says the average will reach 600 and somebody already has said that. Tabell thinks it may get to such a figure.

BANK TOTAL UP $576,243

Greater Victoria bank clearings totaled $8,813,535 in the week ended Thursday night, Victoria Clearing House reports. This was an increase of $576,243 over the $8,237,292 total in the same week a year ago.

SALESMANSHIP CHIEF NEED

Japan Sales to Canada Easily Could Be Doubled

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese businessmen can sell much more to Canada with better salesmanship, lower prices and better terms, Robert F. Renwick, commercial secretary of the Canadian embassy here, said today.

"Canada wants to do business with Japan, as evidenced by our signing of a most-favored nation treaty," Renwick said in an interview.

He said Japanese exports to Canada, valued now at about $16,000,000 a year, could be raised as high as $30,000,000, "but it would help things along if someone would get over there and really show us Japan's quality merchandise."

"Effective advertising based on thorough market research" was needed.

Canadian businessmen get better terms from the United States and Britain than from Japan, he said. Japanese exporters demand letters of credit, in effect "payment in advance of shipment." British and American sellers, on the other hand, used open account bills, payable 30 to 60 days after delivery.

Renwick said Japan probably could sell more steel products to western Canada "if her prices were competitive."

Some Japanese exporters who go to Canada were restricted by Japanese exchange controls.

He suggested also that the Japanese should "endeavor to build up connections with Canadian firms wanting to build trade, rather than with people who want just one deal."

World Bank Financing Aids Trade

MONTREAL (CP) — The World Bank has done much to foster vital projects and give sound counsel in many countries, the Bank of Montreal says in its November business review.

Of the $1,400,000,000 disbursed during the eight full years of its operations, the World Bank has spent $80,000,000 in Canada, the review said.

"Having contributed some $105,000,000 towards its active resources, and having had close to $80,000,000 of our exportss financed under its loans to other countries, Canadians have a direct financial stake as well as a wider concern in the successful functioning of the World Bank," the review says.

Toronto Elevator Net Reduced 40c Share

CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat and corn advanced on the Board of Trade today while the rest of the market developed an irregular pattern.

More dry weather in the southwest was the main factor behind buying in wheat. Light cash receipts aided corn.

Wheat closed unchanged to ⅞ higher, Dec. 2.27½-⅝; corn ⅝-1⅝ higher, Dec. 1.56⅛-¼; oats 1 cent lower to ½ higher, Dec. 83¼-⅜; rye 1 to 1¾ lower, Dec. 1.27-1.26¾; and soybeans ¾ lower to ¼ higher, Jan. 2.86-2.86¼.

GIANT SALES ANNOUNCED BY DOSCO

Steel to Mexico, Iron Ore to U.K.

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—The Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. announced today it has completed a gigantic iron-steel deal with West Germany, Britain and Mexico that includes history's biggest single order for the Sydney steel plant.

Lionel Forsyth, president of Dosco, made the announcement on his return from a round of sales negotiations in Britain and West Germany.

The orders include:

1. More than $25,000,000 worth of finished steel products for the Mexican Pacific Railways. This comprises 175,000 tons of rails and 56,430 tons of tie-plates and other rail accessories.

2. Five million tons of iron ore to be purchased by Britain from Dosco's Wabana, Nfld., mines during the five years between 1956 and 1961. No value was given.

3. An increase of 250,000 tons of Wabana iron ore—to 750,000 tons—in 1955 shipments to West Germany which also has taken an option on 5,000,000 tons of ore between 1956 and 1961.

The order wipes out the uncertainty which had clouded the steel plant's future beyond 1956 when the end of the shipping season would have also meant the end of iron ore delivered to Britain and West Germany.

Mr. Forsyth said he had "every reason to believe" that West German steelworkers would pick up the option on the additional 5,000,000 tons of Wabana ore.

He said the steel sales negotiations with Mexico had been under way for some time.

"The first shipment on this order is scheduled to leave Sydney on November 3," he said. "These forward sales of ore and the Mexican rail order are the fruits of a policy designed to promote" the fullest possible employment and production.

"The rail order in itself is the largest single piece of business ever placed with our Sydney plant. It is of such volume as will, with other business which ought to be forthcoming from time to time, absorb the capacity of a single shift operation of the rail mill for nearly three years."

He added: "Since my return to Canada, we have been able to confirm the sale to Britain of 10,000 tons of billets (steel bars) from our Sydney mills."

The Sydney plant has a labor force of 4,478.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

FROM OUR FILES
(We're older than you think)

(1944)

A special committee of the Chamber of Commerce, supported by citizens from all walks of life, today called on the Canadian Pacific Railway to confirm or deny rumored curtailment of ship service between Victoria and Vancouver.

"The CPR has been woefully shortsighted," the chairman of the committee said. "It is obvious the company should have invested in helicopters, not luxury liners.

"Now the company intends to abandon us," he added.

"Where does the company think Victoria is? On an Island or something?"

A prominent member of the special committee added: "We'll build a bridge, that's what we'll do."

A slightly less prominent member suggested a tunnel instead.

Officials of the CPR informed the special committee its future intentions were all the result of a misunderstanding.

(1894)

On this day, following many months of discussion, not to mention talking back and forth, and much indication of dissatisfaction upon the part of the citizenry of this fair city, with regard to the difficulty of going from here to there across the waters intervening between Victoria and the Main Land, it was decided upon to make certain representations to the party concerned, to wit, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, in an effort to have the aforementioned matters rectified if at all possible and with due regard to circumstances.

Thus an extraordinary committee of responsible citizens, including some who quoth we shall build a bridge and others who quoth we shall build a tunnel waited upon officials of the CPR and asked, where do you think Victoria is, on an Island or something?

Officials of the company thus approached made reply to the effect that their future intentions were all a result of a misunderstanding.

(1754)

Tyee say all braves meet Long House. Tyee say all braves tell him why so hard to cross Skookum-Chuck Vancouver. Many braves say, CPR should get new dugouts with sails, not old dugouts with paddles.

Other braves say, bad medicine to CPR, we build-em bridge.

More other braves say, bad medicine to CPR and bad medicine to bridge, we dig-um tunnel.

Tyee say, bad medicine to CPR, where they think Victoria is, on Island or something?

DROODLES

This is an actual portrait of Adele, a porcupine I keep as a pet. Adele started the fight with the kettle because it was whistling at her (she's very moral) and also, she claimed, making rude remarks about her figure. I keep Adele around because she's both affectionate and useful. When I have a party she circulates among the guests with little sausages and hors d'oeuvres stuck on her quills. Because of the intimate knowledge of porcupine life I've gained from Adele I'm often asked by people (although it's none of their business) how porcupines manage their love life. The answer, of course, is: very carefully.

Warning Given On Conditions At City Hall

Scurrah Withdraws From Election

Former alderman Percy B. Scurrah, who according to reports was being "drafted" into the city alderman race, today bowed out of the contest with a veiled warning against conditions in the City Hall.

"Legal technicalities," loss of planning opportunities, and the need for "certain changes" were mentioned in a statement issued by Mr. Scurrah, businessman and alderman from 1949 to 1953.

Full text of Mr. Scurrah's statement follows:

"For some time I have been greatly concerned over the affairs of the city as reported by the press. According to newspaper reports it would appear that the prestige of the city is at a low ebb, and this should be of concern to all citizens.

"We who are fortunate enough to live here have reason to be proud of our city. To my mind it is the finest place in Canada in which to live. However, we are suffering at the present time by the apathy of the voters in not taking a greater interest in municipal affairs.

"There are many things which could and should be done if we were not frustrated by legal technicalities.

NEED FORWARD LOOK

"The excellent report of the Regional Planning Board is a definite warning that there must be vision shown in the development of the city if we are to take advantage of the opportunities which we have at the present time. These opportunities will soon be lost unless the officials of the administration have a forward look.

"Municipal government affects the life of every citizen and the office of alderman should be considered one to be sought rather than one to be avoided by so many able citizens. Under proper conditions there are great opportunities for service in our city government. During the past few weeks many people have asked me to stand for office, and if conditions were different I would be very happy to offer my services to the electorate.

"However, until certain changes are brought about I don't see where very much can be accomplished and I am therefore not standing for office this year. I am deeply grateful to all those who have expressed their offers of support and it is my hope, along with many other citizens, that a change may be brought about in the near future."

6 Hurt in Car Crash On Rainswept Street

Autos Smashed in Midnight Mishap; Woman, Boy Hurt in Other Accidents

Drizzly windshields and rain-blackened streets continued to add to Victoria's traffic toll Thursday night. Eight collision victims were rushed to city hospitals before midnight.

Mrs. Minnie Stanner, 74, Ritz Hotel, was taken to St. Joseph's at 6.45 with a fractured leg suffered when struck by a cyclist.

Mrs. Stanner was jolted to the pavement at Yates and Douglas while in a crosswalk. The cyclist was said to be a minor.

The injured woman was taken to her home by taxi but later went to hospital.

Ten-year-old Jimmy Rossiter, 976 Esquimalt Road, was knocked from his bike when involved in a crash with a car on Esquimalt Road near Grafton at 7 p.m. Treated for shock and bruises at St. Joseph's, he was later sent home. Police named the car driver as John Wolfenden.

Bay and Quadra, scene of many accidents, resounded to another crash at 11.50 p.m. and police were busied taking six persons to hospital.

Driver Frank Cameron, 33, 961 Esquimalt Road, suffered a badly cut nose. His wife, Muriel, 31, was treated for leg and knee bruises.

Cameron's other passengers, James Blynn, 26; Constance Blynn, 26, and Marion Nicholson, 25, also suffered cuts and bruises. All were discharged from the hospital soon after the accident, with exception of James Blynn.

Driver of the second car, James Little, 2220 Arbutus, was unhurt, but Mrs. Little was later taken to Jubilee and returned home again after X-rays for hip and chest injuries.

Police said damage to both cars was heavy. They had to be towed from the intersection. Charges are pending.

2 City Real Estate Firms To Amalgamate December 1

Amalgamation of two long-established Victoria real estate firms was announced today.

A. A. Meharey & Company, stocks and bonds, together with Meharey & Company, Limited, real estate and insurance, are amalgamating with J. H. Whittome & Company, Limited.

The merger will take effect Dec. 1. The amalgamated firms will operate under the Whittome name from the present Whittome offices at 1218 Broad Street.

K. J. Davis, present Victoria manager for the Whittome company will continue in that capacity. A. A. Meharey and Wyman L. Lammers of the Meharey company will become members of the amalgamated firm. Mr. Lammers will serve as manager of the stock and bond department.

Miss Violet Pearson and Mrs. Evelyn Bowen, now with Meharey, will also become members of the larger concern.

The Whittome company was established by the late J. H. Whittome in 1898 in Duncan. The Victoria office was opened in 1938. Head of the firm is R. W. W. Whittome, son of the founder, who manages the Duncan office.

Eden Withdraws After 9 Years In Saanich Seat

G. Stanley Eden, veteran member of Saanich council, announced today he is not seeking re-election this year.

The councillor, whose term of office expires next month, said he would not contest his seat in the December elections because of pressing business reasons. Mr. Eden is secretary of Harte-Andrews Paints Ltd.

"It doesn't mean I'm through with politics," he said. "But I thought this year I would drop out of the council and attend to my business."

Mr. Eden, 3115 Wascana, has been a resident of Saanich for over 30 years and has been one of the most active members of the council. He has served a total of nine years on the council and has played an important part in building up the Saanich police force.

He is at present a police commissioner, but in this respect he does not intend to retire from office.

Traffic Study Now Under Way

An "exploratory" meeting of the traffic committee, civic affairs group, Chamber of Commerce, was held today as a start of investigation into Victoria's traffic problems.

The committee, chaired by Ernie Peden, will meet again in about 10 days' time to further probe future of traffic matters in relation to the city.

Truck Strike Deadline Set For Tuesday

Local cartage truck drivers will strike if a final conciliation attempt with operators Monday night fails, Victoria union agent Bob Milliken said today.

Cartage operators have stated the meeting would be the last in which they would negotiate the present dispute.

Drivers in five classifications have demanded a 15-cents-an-hour increase "down the line" plus a 40-hour week and an additional paid statutory holiday, making total paid holidays eight per year.

Operators' latest offer to drivers, made last week, was turned down by a small margin at week's end. Operators offered 5, 8 and 10 cent hourly wage increases plus the additional paid holiday.

ADMIRALS ROAD

hence was not available for comment.

But Clr. Carey said he was expressing council decisions when he promised work would start on Admirals ". . . as soon as possible."

He qualified this by adding that the project would have to wait 1955 estimates and stated that at present the municipality is committed to "drainage, sidewalk, curb and gutter construction in the Colville area. That must be done first."

Council was so aggravated with delay and worsening surfaces on Admirals last year that a blockade was threatened.

Council held meetings with Vice-Admiral E. R. Mainguy and former defense minister Brooke Claxton.

Reeve Wurtele flew to Ottawa last May to discuss the matter there and came back at that time with assurance that Dr. Fairey and Mr. Campney would act on Esquimalt's behalf.

Clr. James Bryant said the municipality was being insulted with delays and Clr. Carey wanted to "scarify the road and shut it down."

Engineers reported 90 per cent of the traffic using the road was engaged on Department of National Defense business.

Toronto Plan Seen Answer For Victoria

Federation Suggested As Amalgamation Alternative

By DAVE STOCK

While amalgamation of Greater Victoria is both logical and desirable, there may be too many obstacles in the way to make it possible.

This is the view of James W. Wilson, regional planning expert, who recently completed a seven-month study of conditions in this area for the Capital Region Planning Board.

He suggested that perhaps, as an alternative to amalgamation, the four areas could attack common problems by organizing themselves as "a federation of municipalities" along the lines of what has been done in Greater Toronto.

Mr. Wilson came to Victoria today from Vancouver for a community planning conference taking place in the Empress Hotel.

His personal views on amalgamation were sought since, following publication of his 60-page report, "The Capital Region Takes Stock," Chamber of Commerce leaders here renewed efforts to bring about amalgamation, claiming only by bringing the four areas under one administration could proper planning be implemented.

"COMPLETELY CORRECT"

On amalgamation, Mr. Wilson said this: "Logically, the people calling for amalgamation are completely correct. There is no question about it. Unfortunately, there is the world of difference between logic and feasibility.

"Many problems arise in the annexation of municipalities," he said. "Integration of a large area is a most difficult matter and is rarely accomplished successfully when it is attempted."

Where federation of municipalities is undertaken, common matters where general agreement can be reached are placed in the hands of a metropolitan board of control. Municipalities do not lose their identity, however, and local problems still come under the municipal council.

PLANNER CLAIMS:

Home Property Values Lowered By Airfields

Theory that nearby airports have no effect on residential property values was debunked today by Harry V. Jackson, president of Northwest Mortgage Co. Ltd.

Speaking to the opening session at Empress Hotel of a Vancouver Island conference arranged under auspices of the Community Planning Association of Canada, Mr. Jackson said that airfields materially depressed the value of nearby residential property.

Recent surveys undertaken in the United States, he said, leave no doubt that people do not wish to live near airfields, whether they be for large, commercial craft; light, private planes or helicopters.

"Property values are depressed wherever airfields are located, particularly along the path of landings and take-offs. The degree that values are depressed, depends largely on the nuisance from noise."

(Contention that airfields do not effect property values was made here recently by Capt. Burges J. Gadsden in urging the city to retain Gordon Head property for airpark purposes.)

MANY EFFECTS

According to Mr. Jackson, many things affect the value of residential property.

Generally speaking, he said, from the point of view of a mortgage man or investor, the best place for a "nice home" is among other "nice homes."

While it is advantageous to have schools, playgrounds and shopping centres close by, it is not desirable to have such things right across the street.

"It is better if the playground is down the street and if the stores are about a block away," he said.

NURSING HOMES

In answer to a question, Mr. Jackson said nursing homes established in residential areas detracted from property values in the eyes of the professional investor.

At the same time, he conceded, "you must have a certain amount of tolerance when it comes to such things."

Daughter of Famed Family Dies at 79; Sister Resides Here

Mrs. Annie Prince Smith, 79, daughter of one of the Fathers of Confederation, died today in Winnipeg after a long illness.

Survivors include sisters here, Kate, Lena and Muriel.

Annie Prince Galt was the youngest child in a family of 13 and was born in Montreal, the daughter of Sir Alexander T. Galt, a member of John A. Macdonald's first cabinet as finance minister.

In 1901 she married Dr. William H. Smith of Montreal and moved to Winnipeg a short time later. Her husband, who died in 1940, was president of both the Canadian and British Medical Associations.

BUT . . . WHAT ABOUT MEATBALLS?

What to do with a lot 60 feet wide and a quarter of a mile long?

That was the question raised today by town planner J. W. Wilson in discussing strange developments which occur when improper thought goes into subdividing. He said such a lot actually existed near Vancouver.

"The only thing I could suggest to do with it is grow spaghetti on it," Mr. Wilson said.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Some time ago I read that one of the major rivers of the world actually flows uphill. This was explained as being due to the rotation of the earth. I believe, but am not quite certain, that the river was the Mississippi. Will you kindly give details of this phenomenon? —J.F.S.

A.—No river flows uphill. The force of gravity acting in the water makes that plain. Some time ago a magazine article dealt with the Reversing Falls in the St. John River at St. John, N.B. That natural spectacle is caused by the rise and fall of the high tides of the Bay of Fundy entering the mouth of the river out to the sea. The article you read apparently was this one. The same tides cause the famous "Tidal Bore" in the Petitcodiac River, a wall of water sometimes six feet high which rolls up the river twice each day, breaking on the wharves of the city of Moncton.

TIMES' STUDY PINPOINTS HELIPORT PLANNING PROBLEMS

Experts Etch Picture of What's Needed for 'Copter Service

By TONY DICKASON

Special studies being undertaken by the city on future heliport sites etches the whole picture of 'copter landings here and the need for continued constructive planning to avoid last-minute confusion when 'copter use has become a reality.

Now is the time to:

Conduct provisional traffic surveys and operational estimates for a local helicopter strip; review and revise local ordinances respecting helicopter operations; indoctrinate community officials and the public on the subject; encourage close co-operation between local government and airline operators; make a solid decision on the most advantageous strip available.

These and following suggestions are the result of a Times study of the situation, based on recommendations of U.S. and Canadian helicopter authorities, engineers and 'copter operators. It condenses the most recent thinking on heliport operation, as recommended by top-level planners.

Today there are hundreds of existing heliports throughout the U.S.A. and foreign countries, including several unique heliports maintained in the New York metropolitan area by the Port of New York Authority. Chicago uses a roof-top heliport on the 12-story main post office building. Vancouver's new post office has a roof specially designed for 'copter landings in the future.

A little way south, Los Angeles provides the Greater LA area with 'copter mail service. There, also, a post office roof heliport permits approximately 20 trips daily shuttling mail.

Here, it is reasonable to expect 'copter service to fall into: (1) air mail service with the mainland and Up-Island points; (2) passenger service with Vancouver, Nanaimo, and possibly Port Angeles and Seattle.

For planning purposes, future 'copter sizes must be envisioned. Between next year and 1960 'copters will be available with a 40-passenger capacity load and will weight about 40,000 pounds. A rough approximation of the parking area needed, with rotors turning, has been given at 150 by 100 feet.

Prime requisite will be to clear channels of approach to the heliport. These present themselves generally as parkways, waterways and railways which cut adequate paths for 'copter thoroughfare. Any site chosen here would have to bear this fact in mind for successful operation in future years.

The helicopter can be equipped easily for amphibious operation, and locally might eliminate the need for any roof-top or land surface site. A dock or barge offers an economical platform with clear approaches.

To date, all heliports have been basically landing areas only. But in the future heliports must be designed to include passenger terminals, car parking facilities, 'copter servicing facilities and operation offices.

A one-direction approach to a heliport might be entirely feasible as rotary-wing craft are much less susceptible than fixed-wing craft to cross wind effects.

With equipment being used at present, the heliport should have approaches to permit landings and take-offs at angles from the outer limits of the touchdown pad of 10.1 degrees in the prevailing wind direction and 5.1 degrees in other directions. These angles permit safe operations under all conditions.

For ground surface sites, a square or circular touchdown pad should be surrounded correspondingly by either a square or circular clearance and safety zone, with contrasting color variations to be readily identified from the air. If this is not possible, the site may be marked with a huge "H" in the centre.

A heliport used at night would need a flashing or rotating beacon showing distinctive light signals to identify the site as a heliport. In addition, obstruction lights must be installed on structures or objects which rise above approach surfaces.

It is believed that a roof structure would have sufficient strength if no part was stressed beyond a concentrated load equivalent to three-quarters the gross weight of the 'copter on any one square foot.

However, the entire building structure must be investigated first for undesirable vibration effects due to load application.

Victoria's plans are still formative, but it is expected city manager Cecil Wyatt, in charge of investigations, will report to city council on the matter without too great a time lapse.

There can be no doubt but that 'copter use will be started here, as both TCA and Canadian Pratt and Whitney Corp., have gone on record stating this area is the most promising of all in Canada.

WHIRLYBIRD DUE MONDAY FOR LOCAL 'COPTER FIRM

A $40,000 Bell helicopter is expected to be here Monday for tests by Vancouver Island Helicopters Ltd., now waiting Ottawa approval of its application for a commercial license to operate from Patricia Bay.

The 'copter, one of 1,000 of its type in service throughout the world, is of light-weight construction with a maximum speed of 98 mph and can carry a 2,550 load with an approximate range of 240 miles. Climb to 5,000 feet can be made in six minutes and the craft has a 14,000-foot ceiling.

The 'copter will be used mainly for timber cruising if license application has been approved.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Buy Larder Supplies At Reasonable Prices

By PENNY SAVER

Let's see . . . what vegetables can we eat with our dinners next time? We'll want them to be tasty and nutritious, but at the same time, inexpensive. Yes, we're all in the same boat now . . . everyone trying to economize on vitamins . . . they're too precious to do without. With this in mind, I've jotted down the newest prices in fruits and vegetables for you . . . to help you save, yet eat vitamin-rich foods.

Spinach is one vegetable I'll recommend above all. I don't have to tell you about all the food value it contains, but I will mention the price. In case you didn't know, you can buy a pound of spinach for 15 cents. Now in a pound, you get a lot of spinach, because it's very light weight. Naturally some of the bulk will be lost in cooking, but even then, you certainly get your money's worth from a pound of spinach.

Nice big Savoy cabbages are on my list of recommendations, too . . . 15 cents each, and you can buy three pounds of red cabbage for 25 cents. Green peas are 19 cents a pound.

Only six pennies will buy you a pound of turnip. Turnip is so-o-o good for you and here's a point you may not have realized. Turnips, mashed, are excellent substitutes for potatoes. You diet-conscious folks should take the tip.

Another suggestion along that line is that you try substituting root artichokes for potatoes. They aren't nearly as starchy and they're good for you. You don't save money in this case, however, for root artichokes are considerably more expensive than potatoes. Have them for a treat some evening. Price is 30 cents a pound.

★ ★ ★

For dessert, let me suggest sweet honey pears, which you can buy locally for 25 cents a three-pound bag. That's a good price. I saw some bananas for 15 cents a pound. Oh yes, Flemish beauty pears are looking mighty tasty right now. They're priced at a quarter for five.

★ ★ ★

Chestnuts for roasting have come down in price to 43 cents a pound. Do you fancy some coconuts? You can buy 'em for 30 cents each.

GIRL GUIDES

Kiers and Mrs. T. F. Baxter received membership pins. A camp report submitted by Mrs. A. Westinghouse was read by the secretary. Plans for a campfire in Guide Hall on Dec. 15 were discussed. Refreshments were served.

TODAY'S RECIPE

OREGANO LIMAS

One and a half cups large dry limas, 1 (10½ or 11-ounce) can consomme, ½ cup tomato juice, 1 minced clove garlic, 1 finely diced carrot, 1 diced onion, 1 diced stalk celery, ½ teaspoon oregano, ¼ pound salt pork.

Rinse limas, cover generously with boiling water and boil two minutes. Cover and let stand one hour. Drain and add undiluted consomme, tomato juice, vegetables, oregano and sliced salt pork. Boil gently until tender, one to 1½ hours. Turn into baking dish, arranging salt pork on top. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about one hour. Makes five to six servings.

To Celebrate Anniversary of Namesake

Mrs. Lenfesty-Robinson is general convener of a gala bazaar and tea sponsored by the chapter to mark the 100th anniversary of the day this nurse left for the Crimean War with 35 others in her party. The affair will take place in the Nurses' Home, Royal Jubilee Hospital, next Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. W. A. Bennett conducting the opening ceremony at 2 p.m. Mrs. Smith, as regent of the chapter, will receive guests, among whom will be Miss Irving and Miss Woodrow of the hospital staff. Mrs. Nichol and Mrs. Mellor are members of the stall committee.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Facial Reduction—Requires Weight Loss—Make-Up Helps

Q.—"How can I reduce my face? It is fat looking."

A.—The only way to reduce your face is to count calories and lose all over. However, this is not feasible if you are the correct weight. Make your face look slimmer with correct hair styling and makeup.

Q.—"When I go out to a party with my husband I wear low-heeled shoes with my dressy clothes. I really would like to wear high heels on such occasions except that I am taller than my husband when I have these on. Do you think that matters? Must I keep on wearing low heels all of the time?"

A.—I think it depends on how you feel, and especially on how your husband feels about it. I know many attractive couples in which the man is shorter than his wife. This does not seem to bother my friends at all. If it makes your husband feel self-conscious then do not wear high heels. Otherwise enjoy them.

Q.—"My 14-year-old daughter is very self-conscious because she is fat. She truly is a lot overweight. I think that we should do something about it because it is affecting her personality and fun. Her father thinks that it is silly to bother with it and says so before the child. What do you think?"

A.—I think that you should take your daughter to a doctor and ask him to supervise a loss of weight. It is most important in my estimation that teenagers should be relieved of the self-consciousness which overweight brings them. As you say, it affects their good time and may damage the personality permanently.

Q.—"Why do you say to use a brown eyebrow pencil? My brows are black."

A.—Even on black brows a dark brown pencil will look black and much more natural.

Son Needs Help in Supporting Mother

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When a person is dependent upon others for support, he cannot always have things just as he wants them. A reader writes:

Hurlock

(Q)—"I am writing to you for advice about my mother, who is 50 years old. I have supported her alone for 11 years. I am married and have two children. I can't afford to maintain my mother in her apartment, and my wife says she could never live in the same house with my mother. My sister's husband feels the same way about his house and also refuses to give my mother a cent, although he can afford it.

"My mother says she can't work, that she is too old, and that she's ill—though she hasn't been to a doctor in over six years. She also says she'll never take in a boarder, as she'd lose her privacy. What can I do? Right now, I'm wondering if there's a law tat would compel my brother-in-law to help me support my mother."

(A)—"I have never heard of laws compelling even children to support their parents, although there may be such a law. You can ask your minister and he can check this matter with a lawyer.

It certainly is not fair for you to have the complete burden of your mother's support when you have a sister who could afford to help you. Your mother is her mother too. Even if she has no money of her own, surely she could make some sacrifices in her clothes and other things she buys for herself to contribute something to your mother's support.

Your mother has no right to drain you for her support when she might help in one way or another. She would not have to take a full-time job, but surely she could earn something by being a companion to an elderly person or do some baby-sitting work.

Insist that she see a doctor and have the doctor report to you what her physical condition is. If she is too sick to work, she is too sick to live alone. Make it clear to her that she must make some sacrifices just as you do. She should either earn money or cut down her living expenses by having someone share her apartment with her.

Important Vitamin

Vitamin D, obtained from fish liver oils, is necessary for formation of bone.

Biscuit mix can be the beginning of so many fancy quick breads. Stir up a dough from 2 cups of mix and roll to a 9 x 12-inch rectangle. Spread with softened butter and sprinkle with brown sugar and raisins. Roll as for jelly roll and cut into inch slices. Bake in moderately hot oven about a half hour. Frost if desired, while hot.

Debutante Parade the Highlight At United Services' Ball Tonight

Clouds of diaphonous white tulle and classic richness of brocade, touched with star-like gleams of jewels and sequins will hold all attention tonight at the Empress Hotel, as a bevy of 20 graceful debutantes curtsey before His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Wallace at the annual ball of the United Services Institute of Vancouver Island.

Miss Gillian Scott-Moncrieff will wear a brocaded white satin gown, the bodice having fichu-like folds of net about the shoulder-line and the skirt tapering into graceful fullness. Presentation gown chosen by Miss Susan Edgell is of illusion tulle, the bodice softly shirred and bouffant skirt appliqued with touches of jeweled lace. She will carry a posy of gardenias and stephanotis.

White moire satin, the bodice featuring a halter neck, the skirt open in front to reveal nylon net flounces dotted with sequins, will be worn by Miss Mary Beckton. She will complement her gown with rhinestone jewelry. Brocaded taffeta fashioned with a strapless bodice is the choice of Miss Margery Ellis. She will wear white gardenias at the waist and on the folds of the full nylon net skirt.

Miss Heather Hewitt will wear net clouded over taffeta, the strapless bodice having a lace peplum. She will add the touches of a three-strand pearl necklace and a gardenia in her hair.

A graceful gown of white brocade having a sweetheart neckline and flaring skirt is to be worn by Miss Sara Hughes. Her jewelry will be pearls. Miss Brenda Durrant's tulle gown has a full skirt sprinkled with pearls. A stole will mist the strapless top and a seed pearl necklace and heirloom bracelet will complete her ensemble.

Brilliants gleam from the billowing nylon net skirt of Miss Vivian Sanguinetti's gown. The strapless bodice is of Chantilly lace and she will wear a lovely pearl ring, gift for the occasion by her aunts in Jamaica. Nylon net and lace fashions the strapless bouffant gown of Miss Elizabeth Napier-Hemy and she will wear a rhinestone necklace.

Miss Denise Stuart Yates will wear a nylon net over taffeta dress, the tight-fitted bodice having a sweetheart neckline and the full skirt featuring front panels of accordion pleated net and insets of Chantilly lace. A net stole will enhance the bodice and her necklace will be rhinestones.

Lace bands the bouffant skirt of the white sheer nylon gown to be worn by Miss Gwynne Roberts and Miss Barbara Westinghouse will be gowned in white embroidered tulle over satin, the bodice having a scoop neckline. Her jewelry will be pearls.

White moonbeam sequins dot the nylon ankle-length formal to be worn by Miss Michelle Robert. Nylon over taffeta forms the fitted bodice and she will wear a wrist bouquet of white roses and stephanotis. Miss Elaine Patterson's choice is nylon net over satin, the very full skirt sprinkled with mother-of-pearl sequins, the strapless bodice worn with a stole.

White tulle poised over a strapless taffeta bodice, the waist above a bouffant skirt having extra back fullness, outlined with a satin cummerbund, will be worn by Miss Nona Shove. Pearls will be her ornament. Miss Jennifer Little has chosen net over taffeta, the shirred bodice being strapless and having mother-of-pearl sequin trim. With it she will wear a stole terminating in tiny sleeves banded with sequins. Embossed white nylon over taffeta forms the gown to be worn by Miss Sally Learoyd. The strapless bodice is poised above an extremely bouffant skirt and she will wear pearls. Miss Sheila Kingham, who has come from the University of British Columbia for the occasion, will wear a gown of nylon tulle combined with imported French Chantilly lace, the bodice being of the lace with a draped effect over the shoulders, the skirt appliqued with bows of lace embroidered with mother-of-pearl sequins and pearls.

White chiffon, the softly shirred bodice forming an off-shoulder line, creates the gown to be worn by Miss Gillian Mead-Robins. The billowing graceful skirt flows into increased fullness at the back, forming a slight train. Miss Helene de la Hitte is to wear brocade, the large puffed sleeves combined with tulle and pleated tulle filling in the bust line, the skirt sweeping into voluminous fullness. Rhinestone necklace, earrings and bracelet will complete her ensemble.

The club has also promised $100 a year for the upkeep of the four beds.

Mrs. Sarah McMartin, Mrs. Nan Pohl and Mrs. F. G. Smith convened the dinner. Mrs. Alice Mallek, Mrs. Ann Pearson and Miss Gertrude Maywood, members who had spent the summer overseas, spoke briefly of their trips. Guests were Mrs. C. Marsh, Mrs. L. Smallwood and Mrs. F. G. Smith.

Others present were Mrs. A. M. Robertson, Mrs. Alice Kimmitt, Mrs. Ruth Greenslade, Misses Ella Walker, Elsie Richards, Doris Lightowler, Marjorie Harwood and Muriel Vincent.

Christmas Food Stall

A special appeal for donations to the Christmas Free Food Stall for distribution on Dec. 18, is being made by Mrs. Sidney S. Penny, co-ordinator, and the committee. It has been found that supplies donated do not fully meet the demands made upon the stall for assistance, and it is anticipated that requests for supplies will be heavier than usual during the Christmas season. For further information please phone Mrs. Penny at 4-9406 or Mrs. Harper at 9-4256.

Women's Auxiliary, No. 2455, Aircraft and Warning Squadron (RCAF) bazaar, Saturday at 2.30, Orange Hall.

This Cake a Beautiful Surprise

Your boys and their friends will love this receipe, with its tender chocolate cake decorated with a frosty Christmas tree with coconut and red, green and silver candies. It's a lovely cake, festive and luscious, perfect for holiday entertaining at dinner or a buffet supper party.

CHRISTMAS-TREE CAKE

Two cups sifted cake flour, 1¼ teaspoons soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup butter, margarine or other shortening, 1¼ cups sugar, 1 egg, unbeaten; 3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted; 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup thick sour cream, 1 cup sweet milk. Fluffy frosting tinted green, 1½ cups shredded coconut, red cinnamon candies, silver dragees, and gumdrops.

Sift flour once, measure, add soda and salt, and sift together three times. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat thoroughly. Stir in chocolate and vanilla. Add about one-quarter of the flour and beat well; then add sour cream and beat thoroughly. Add remaining flour, alternately with milk, beating after each addition until smooth.

Pour batter quickly into 13x9x2-inch pan, which has been lined on bottom with paper. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes, or until cake springs back when pressed lightly.

When cake is cool, frost top and sides with fluffy frosting and sprinkle coconut on sides. On top of cake trace Christmas tree, using a toothpick, then fill in with coconut. Outline tree with red cinnamon candies and silver dragees, then decorate with gumdrop "candies" and additional candies.

Special chocolate cake is colorful with coconut and red, green and silver candies.

Ensembles for Every Holiday Occasion Shown

Fashions for the festive season . . . for dancing, cocktails, teas, lounging and sleeping . . . all were seen, Thursday afternoon, in Eaton's Victoria Room, at a fashion show and tea, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Arthritic and Rheumatism Society.

Party dresses for festive occasions proved most popular. All were viewed with admiration by feminine spectators, who pictured themselves wearing the fashionable creations.

Bright, Christmas-red panaglaze flared over crinoline, forming a gay party dress for model Miss Ina Bain. This danceable dress featured a novelty stitched yoke.

All set for a cocktail party, Doris Usher made an appearance in a tailored sheath. A new high-fashion idea, this dress depends solely upon its fabric for the dressy appearance. The multi-colored untarnishable metallic fabric, which is surprisingly soft to touch, catches the light as the wearer moves, giving a fascinating Christmas look.

Leopard-patterned corduroy TV slacks with full-cut mocha corduroy jacket, leopard-trimmed, were modeled by lovely Helen Bierness, to prove that the modern woman doesn't need to dress up to look smart. Should unexpected guests drop in, such an outfit would flatteringly become the casual hostess.

Ready for a "white Christmas," blonde Barbara Hindson modeled a negligee ensemble of snowy nylon tricot, patterned all over with falling flakes . . . so very feminine!

Pert fashions for the little miss were modeled by adorable Jodi Joslin.

Mrs. J. Crossley graciously modeled a waltz-length formal of blue lace over tulle and taffeta. Full-skirted and becoming, this dress may be worn to balls and parties, yet is perfect for the mother-of-the-bride.

Dark-haired Pat Gannon was the ideal mannequin for a frosty white full-length formal. A jeweled lace cuff formed a deep V neckline, and from a snugly-fitting waistline the skirt of nylon tulle frothed in fullest bouffancy.

A breath-taking finale was the ball gown of jeweled brocade, modeled by Nona Damaske. Yards of the gleaming fabric were lined with pellon, giving the empire gown a crisp, regal look. Iridescent sequins outlined the scalloped neckline of this white dream dress.

Background Christmas music was played on the organ by Tommy Austin throughout the fashion show and commentator was Ida Bianco. The show was repeated this afternoon.

FINE CHOIR

The Mendelssohn choir of Toronto was founded in 1894 by the late Augustus Vogt.

Unions Reject Action Against Negro Labor

Racial Job Preference Proposal Snubbed By Powerful British TUC

COVENTRY, England (Reuters)—Britain's growing race problems, caused by an influx of Jamaican Negroes, was spotlighted again Thursday when regional leaders of the powerful Trade Unions Congress snubbed a local union chief who called for deliberate discrimination against colored workers.

James Leask, a local secretary of the Transport and General Workers' Union, submitted his resolution at a meeting of the Midland regional advisory committee of the TUC. He said the problem of the Negroes is becoming acute in Birmingham.

The delegates cheered when a member shouted "next business" as soon as Leask had spoken, and the meeting moved on without discussing the measure.

Earlier in the week Leask said he would include in the resolution a four-point plan, but it was not in Thursday's version.

The points were that no colored workers be given supervisory jobs, or be hired if white workers were available, that there should always be talks between the union and management before colored workers were hired, and that colored workers should be the first fired in any layoffs.

Noted Presbyterian Church Leader Dies

LAKEVILLE, Conn. (P)—Rev. Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, 77, noted retired Presbyterian church leader and prolific writer on religious subjects, died Thursday at his home here after a brief illness.

He was a former president of Union Theological Seminary in New York City, where he was born.

RELOCATE AKLAVIK—A new 600-acre site has been found for the 42-year-old community of Aklavik, largest in the Canadian Arctic. The community will be moved to a new location on the east channel of the Mackenzie River, about 33 miles east of the present site, and linked with the outside world by an airport. Planning of the new townsite will start immediately. The move was necessary because melting permafrost turned the terrain into a quagmire during the summer. This map shows the old and new sites. ## IN THE CARIBOO

Birth Rate Beats India

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — The birthrate in the Cariboo health unit area rivals that of Bombay, India, Dr. Gordon Fierheller said here. He told a service club the Prince George area birthrate was 40 a thousand compared with 25 a thousand for the province.

MEDAL FOR McMURDO

KAMLOOPS (CP)—A. Nelson McMurdo, conductor of the Kamloops high school band, has received the Governor-General's medal for the group's performance at the Holland world music festival. In addition to the award for their musical ability, the band won a gold medal for their marching display.

$3 MILLION BERRY CROP

MISSION (CP) — Strawberry and raspberry growers in the Fraser Valley have been paid about $3,000,000 for their crops this year, in a wet season that saw tonnage sliced in half over last year's showing. The estimate was made today by processing plant officials after final payments were made for 1954 crops. Across the board payments for strawberries was 17½ cents a pound.

TO BUY ARENA

SUMMERLAND (CP) — A meeting of 250 ratepayers here voted to ask municipal council to draw up a $62,000 by-law for recreational facilities. If the measure is approved $24,000 would be earmarked for purchase of the present rink and the remainder would be used for artificial ice machinery.

BILLY GRAHAM TO MAKE 'CRUSADE' IN NORTHWEST

SEATTLE (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham, concerned about what he called "the great spiritual need" in the Pacific Northwest, said Thursday he may return in 1956 to make a month-long "crusade" through the state of Washington.

"The Northwest is a great harvest field for Christ," said the 36-year-old Rev. Graham before his departure by plane for San Francisco. "We promise that we're going to come back as soon as we can. We'll give serious thought to 1956."

'NO PUBLICITY STUNT'

Marlon Brando Home To Meet Josanne

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Marlon Brando came home today for a reunion with his French fiancee and said angrily that rumors his engagement was just a publicity stunt are "too stupid to deny."

Josanne Mariani, the 19-year-old stepdaughter of a French fisherman who announced her engagement to the movie star a month ago in France, was not at the dock when Brando arrived aboard the liner United States.

Brando said he had asked her not to come because "I don't care to make any kind of public display of my relationship with Josanne."

Brando left the pier to meet Josanne at an undisclosed rendezvous.

"It is not a publicity stunt, and I do intend to marry the girl," Brando told reporters.

"If it were a big publicity stunt, I'd be foolish to admit it, and if it weren't it speaks for itself. It's stupid to deny it. People will think what they want to."

Brando said he and Josanne will be married "early next summer."

"I don't really care to speak about my personal feelings to the general public," Brando said softly. Reporters had to strain to hear what he said although the actor, who often has been unco-operative, was surprisingly polite and talkative. Asked why he chose a French girl for a wife instead of an American girl, Brando said:

"When choosing a wife I don't think it is particularly important to question the nationality. It is important to find someone you are compatible with."

"The actor said he will be busy studying singing and dancing for his forthcoming movie "Guys and Dolls," and that he hopes to do a play on Broadway.

On the trip from England, other passengers saw little of Brando, although he spent one evening conversing fluently in French with Salvador Dali, the artist, who also was a passenger.

Frogland War of Extinction Ends, Peaceful Co-Existence

BAKAR ARANG, Malaya (Reuters)—Fears of an imminent world catastrophe abated in this village Thursday as two warring tribes of frogs settled down to a period of peaceful co-existence.

To superstitious Chinese housewives, the four-day battle of the frogs in Madam Oh Hong Suan's backyard had served as a sure portent of a terrible event. The last frog war in 1950 had been followed by the outbreak of the Korean war.

But a Chinese mystic ventured into the backyard battleground Thursday and went into a trance. Anxious women who Wednesday sacrificed pigs and chickens to appease the "god of fire" waited in silence.

The mystic rose from the mud and announced triumphantly that Prince Loh Chia, the infant god who rides a wheel of fire, had personally assured him that no harm would arise from the frog war.

Shouts of relief went up from the assmbled women. The frogs, back in their rival domains—ponds at each end of the yard—just croaked.

Inhabitants of this village 500 miles north of Singapore had both marveled at and feared the course of the war until its inconclusive finish last week end.

Casualties on both sides were apparently so heavy that the combatants decided to live at peace in their own spheres.

The fighting broke out when the king of the big brown edible frogs ventured into the pond possessed by the smaller, but louder-croaking, black frogs. The blacks gave the royal visitor a rough time before driving him out.

(B PLUS) "BENGAL BRIGADE" (Odeon) — The story of the "Bengal Brigade" is what might be described as of the paper doll variety. When you cut one, then pull the folded paper apart you have a whole string of them, each one looking exactly like the other. And that's the trouble with the film. The story keeps haunting you throughout, as though you are viewing celluloid ghosts.

Rock ("The Magnificent Obsession") Hudson is an officer with an Indian regiment. When the picture opens they are being besieged by the enemy, "growing impatient under nearly one hundred years of British domination." In the ensuing action the regiment's major is killed and Hudson is taken from his Sepoys to be made the colonel's aide just as he is about to lead an assault upon an enemy position. A few minutes later, when the attacking Sepoys fall into a trap and a fellow officer is dilatory in going to their rescue, Capt. Hudson disobeys his commanding officer and instead of ordering the retreat to be sounded takes over and leads the second unit to victory.

★ ★ ★

IN SPITE OF THE HEROism and success of the attack Hudson is court-martialled and awarded a "severe reprimand." Rather than submit to what he considers to be unwarranted discipline he resigns his commission. This appears to do him no good whatsoever. Not only is he out of the army but he is out of the arms of the Colonel's daughter, Arlene Dahl.

So far this isn't too bad a yarn. Quite nicely played, as a matter of record. But from here until the final curtain the plot degenerates and becomes something you feel as though you've seen before.

★ ★ ★

FOR INSTANCE THERE is the bit about the greasy bullets going against the religious grain of the sepoys; getting mixed up with the enemy on purpose so as to find out when the rivers are to run red with British blood only to be thought a traitor by his former army friends.

Even a goodly amount of moralizing about British rule in India and the right of a nation to govern itself fails to hide the hackneyed theme.

Too bad this. Because the acting is tolerably good and the photography excellent.

KITTENS, DOLLS, FAIRIES and Old St. Nick will be "on stage" at the Royal Theatre on Dec. 4, 11 and 18, when the Hudson's Bay "Santa Claus Show" makes its annual appearance. Above (left) is Marilyn Newby, 3279 Glasgow, and (right) Beverly Hermiston, Bryden Court, two of the pupils of the Florence Clough Dance Academy who will take part in the show. Proceeds from the productions, which will be performed at 9.30 a.m. and 11 a.m. each time, will go to the Queen Alexandra Solarium. Tickets are on sale at the Hudson's Bay Co.

ICELAND POETRY

Native of Iceland, Stephen Stephansson, who farmed in Alberta until his death in 1927, was called the greatest modern Icelandic poet.

Take More Time To Enjoy Living

If Canadians would take more time to enjoy themselves and appreciate life, they would soon learn the art of living, something that Europeans have mastered long ago, Rotarians here were told Thursday.

G. F. "Pat" Dunn, recently returned from a trip to Europe, where he represented B.C. at the centenary of the Chartered Accountants' Institute of Scotland, told the club that Canadians have a long way to go before they will equal European in knowing how to enjoy life.

Illustrating his point, he described the benevolent discipline of the English, their appreciation of the past, their courtesy, and their genuine hospitality.

He noted the cool reception given to Americans in European countries but also said: "It was wonderful to see the heart-warming welcome extended to Canadians by those same people."

Dr. Dunn said he was depressed by the defeatist attitude of the French when speaking of their national landmarks, as though France's great days were gone, never to return.

He spoke of the excellent architecture to be found in modern-day Italy.

"Italians are years ahead of us in their designs of buildings," he said.

He praised also the cleanliness of the Swiss, describing the neatness of their countryside and their cities, a strong contrast to Canadian rural and urban areas.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

A bridge crime was committed in today's hand, and all bridge detectives are hereby alerted. See if you can spot the crime and the criminal.

West opened with the four of spades, dummy played low, and East won with the queen. East returned the queen of diamonds and West overtook with the king of diamonds in order to lead the ace of diamonds. Dummy ruffed with the five of spades, and East overruffed with the nine of spades.

East now led the ace of spades and the ten of spades, clearing the trumps out of dummy. Declarer led the three top hearts, discarding two diamonds from his hand. This still left one diamond in the South hand, and South had to lose one trick to the ace of clubs and one trick to the jack of diamonds.

Since the defenders had already taken three trump tricks and a diamond, South was down one.

You are now in possession of all the facts and all the clues. See if you can spot the crime and the criminal before you read on.

South was the criminal, since he should have made his contract of two spades doubled. The crime occurred at the third trick, when West led the ace of diamonds. Declarer should have ruffed in dummy with the king of spades.

East would overruff with the ace of spades and would return the ten of spades to force out the jack, but this would still leave one trump in the dummy. South would eventually ruff a losing diamond with that trump, and would thus make his contract.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

BY BILL PARKER

Well, I suppose there won't be many people doing any work Saturday morning.

Not by anyone who is interested in sports, I should think.

Grey Cup Day . . . and everyone who follows the pigskin parade will have ears glued to a radio or eyes trained on a teevee screen.

And there will be plenty of opportunity for Victorians to see and hear the game.

The 1954 final will have the largest radio and television coverage in the history of Canadian sport.

Ninety-two TV stations, 70 in the States and 22 in Canada, will telecast the game, either "live" or "canned."

A 75-station radio network will bring a play-by-play, move-by-move description to every major Canadian city.

About 100 newspapermen will also cover the game.

Locally the game will be telecast "live" over CBUT and KOMO-TV through the combined facilities of NBC and the CBC.

On radio, listeners will be able to hear the game over CJVI, CJOR, or CKWX.

Broadcast time will be 9.45 a.m. directly following a half-hour production called the "Grey Cup Cavalacade."

And when you watch the game, just think a little about the excellent work being done to bring it to you. No, not just to you . . . to more than 50 million others, too.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SATURDAY

Saturday's child is one of those very open and above-board individuals who will scorn any deviousness in associating with others. So you must early train that being absolutely honest is wrong when you make such a fetish of it you merely hurt feelings of others who are in no position to strike back. But your child will have wonderful life after this lesson is learned, for all kinds of opportunities will be constantly presented for traveling, expanding, living at high level of consciousness. Fine chart for traveling or business ventures.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1954

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—This is your day to be social, happy, contented. Realize higher degrees of health in those ways that appeal to you; go after new acquaintances of character who can aid your upward swing.

AQUARIS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 19)—You've been flying pretty high in your thoughts; now you have fine day to seek advice from spiritual giants. Then analyze where you are headed in behind-scenes interests and organize coming days wisely.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SUNDAY

Make sure you early give down-to-earth, practical training in which organization has lot to do with vocational education. Teach early that being scrappy only alienates others, but this is only a surface trait. Within, your progeny is a fine child.

NO WINNER LAST WEEK

THE RULES

You can send in as many entries as you like in one envelope, but they must be on the form printed in the paper. Facsimiles will NOT be permitted. The puzzle will be printed on Fridays, Saturdays and Mondays.

All answers must be received by the morning mail of Wednesday.

Be sure to clip on the dotted line. This is for the convenience of tallying entries.

EARLY MAILING WILL BE APPRECIATED

The answer will be printed in Friday's paper each week. It will be a good idea to keep a record of your solution and compare it with the answer.

PRIZES

Anyone may enter with the exception of employees of Victoria Press Ltd. and their families.

A prize of $25 will be paid for solving the puzzle. If there is more than one winner the prize will be divided.

BONUS

Times Crosswords Answer
Puzzle No. 87

COMMENTS:

ACROSS:

6. DICTION, defined: "wording and phrasing," is obviously a good answer. Many good works of FICTION embody slang which is, in a sense, the improper use of words.

7. FIAT is preferred. The clue says "suggests something to be done"—clearly the future tense. A FIAT is "a command to do something," that is, it has not already been done. A FEAT may well suggest something already done, not "to be done."

15. WIFE is better. A food LIFE is WHAT a man achieves, rather than something that HELPS him to achieve. A good WIFE can HELP him.

17. A KISS is sometimes a consolation. Actually it is not in the being MISSED that the consolation lies but in the KNOWLEDGE THAT HE IS THOUGHT enough of to be MISSED.

19. DUET is preferred. It suits the clue word "likes" better. A DUET being always for entertainment is more apt to the idea of liking it or not liking it. A DIET is often for medical purposes whether liked or not.

22. She will avoid HASTE wherever possible or EXCESSIVE WASTE. A certain amount of WASTE (of food) is inevitable in every kitchen—stems, ends, etc.—and there's no reason why she should avoid it.

25. A nice TOY for a LITTLE girl. A nice BOY would be more to the point for a BIG girl!

26. In aeronautics—air navigation—the strength of the WIND is always important. Some aircraft do not HAVE WINGS.

DOWN:

1. SOFT is best because the clue says "describes." SOFA IS a seat; it does not "describe" a seat.

2. READ is preferred since it is not the ROAD itself that may be tiring; it is the travelling on it.

5. WISE is preferred. If your advice is always good you will ALREADY STAND HIGH in their estimation, not RISE. They may well esteem you as being WISE, of course.

5. Painting a figure, the POSE is vital. Painting a face, the NOSE may be relatively unimportant; he may be after an effect rather than a likeness. ROSE, etc., is not favored.

8. TIRED, yes; he doesn't need to be TIMED to know when he has run badly.

16. FLESHY refers to the MAN, and FLASHY to his clothes, etc.

19. DEAR is preferred. Since TIME the great healer erases memories you may, after some years, think but rarely of a DEAD friend.

21. LEAN is best. A very MEAN man is unlikely to have any real friends.

24 WRONG BODY IDENTIFICATIONS

Montreal Murder Still Mystery to RCMP, FBI

MONTREAL (CP) — A Bourbonniere Street woman looked out of her kitchen window about a year ago and uncovered one of Montreal's greatest murder mysteries.

In the alley behind her East End home she saw the headless, handless and footless body of a man whose identity, to this day, has not been established.

Police say that countless checks have proved worthless a year after the still-warm torso, clad in long winter underwear and wrapped in a blanket, was found.

Assistant Inspector Henry Bond, head of Montreal's homicide squad, says "we are not any further advanced today than when the body was found."

Law enforcement agencies such as the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigation and the RCMP also investigated leads and published photographs and descriptions of the victim in their official magaznes.

Police said the victim was "identified" at least 24 times.

All were wrong although the victim's head was eventually found.

It had been battered—possibly crushed in a tobacco press—but science permitted its reconstruction.

The feet, too, were found . . . but the hands are still missing.

Police assumed that they were permanently done away with to prevent identification through fingerprints.

VERMILLION, Alta. (BUP) —Canada's first gas turbine power plant opens here today.

N. A. Willmore, Alberta's minister of industries and labor, came here to officiate at the formal ceremonies at the plant of Canadian Utilities Ltd.

The company said the new generating set, a 5,500 to 7,700 kilowatt gas turbine-driven unit, "is especially interesting to power engineers because it produces power directly from an abundant natural resource"—oil from Alberta fields.

It was described as the first time such a "prime mover" was used to produce commercial power in Canada.

SMOG HITS L.A. AGAIN; BABIES DIE

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The worst fog in years continued over the greater portion of southern California today, paralyzing transportation on land, at sea and in the air.

Most airports were closed, including the big Los Angeles International, one of the busiest in the United States.

Three babies, each three months old, died Thursday of respiratory ailments and the coroner ordered autopsies. Smog was suspected of being a contributory influence.

For the last 18 hours the eye-smarting smoke and fog has drenched the downtown Los Angeles area, and is described as the worst of the season.

Oakalla Escapee Happy in the 'Pen'

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—A 24-year-old prison escapee was back in the custody of his jailers today and to hear him tell it he was the happiest man among all concerned.

Russell V. Patterson said he was glad to be back behind bars, and "gladder still" that he made a break for freedom from nearby Oakalla prison Nov. 18. Patterson was nearly due for release at the time he made his escape.

He said the move, and his subsequent recapture, now meant that he could go back to the penitentiary instead of Oakalla and complete a job-training course which he was taking there.

Patterson was one of three inmates who escaped from Oakalla at the same time. All were later recaptured, and all were remanded to Dec. 2 when they appeared before Magistrate Gordon Grant Thursday and pleaded guilty to escaping custody.

Patterson was re-arrested near Mission, B.C., last Saturday along with 18-year-old fellow-inmate Lawrence J. Cook. The third escapee, Donald Coe, 22, gave himself up to city police a few hours after the break.

'Habitual' Criminals Should Have Trial By Jury Under Code, Lawyers Agree

TORONTO (BUP)—Forty lawyers unanimously approved a suggestion Thursday night that the right to trial by jury and appeal from conviction should be restored to persons considered habitual criminals.

The lawyers gathered here for the fall meeting of the Criminal Justice Committee, Ontario section of the Canadian Bar Association.

The suggestion was proposed by Arthur Maloney who said it was "a shocking disclosure" to learn that the right to trial by jury would be taken away from such persons.

The change is contained in the new criminal code which becomes effective April 1.

J. Alex Edmison, assistant to the principal of Queen's University, agreed it would be "a damning thing to take down the sign of hope" from prisoners.

Peron Backed In Church Row

60,000 Argentines Cheer Leader On Dispute With Churchmen

BUENOS AIRES (UP)—Some 60,000 wildly cheering Argentines Thursday night gave President Juan D. Peron what amounted to blank-check support in his dispute with Catholic churchmen who oppose his regime.

A crow dof 30,000 in the Luna Park arena and an overflow crowd of about equal size outside roared approval and shouted "Peron, yes! Priests, no!" When Vice-President Alberto Teisaire said:

"All we Peronists want is our marching orders from General Peron. We will not analyze the situation. If Peron wants something, that is enough."

Police guards were stationed at the Buenos Aires cathedral and various downtown churches hours before the mass meeting began, but fears of widespread religious riots abated when Peron told the crowd to "go home quietly, and think no more of this problem.' '

Despite the evidence of crowd support for Peron, a pastoral letter declaring that priests will take a hand in any matter which they feel affects the basic principles of the church will be read from pulpits throughout Argentina Sunday.

Peron's speech in Luna Park was largely a repetition of his radio attack two weeks ago against his government.

Since that speech, the national government has taken over the courts and a university in Corboda province, and numerous priests have been arrested throughout the country on a variety of charges.

Felipe S. Perez, who took over the Cordoba courts for the government, said Thursday that "no one who disagrees with Peronist doctrine has any right to be a judge . . . to qualify for a position in public administration, one must be a Peronist."

Father Rodolfo Carboni, arrested Sunday after he compared present conditions in Argentina with Nazi persecution of the Catholics in Germany, Thursday was sentenced to jail for 30 days.

The Peronist newspaper Critica reported that another priest, Father Victor E. Rodriguez, was arrested here early Thursday with a band of cocaine peddlers. The report could not be confirmed.

Body of Marx Removed to Bigger Site

LONDON (AP)—The body of Karl Marx, father of Communism, has been dug up and reburied in a different plot in London's Higate cemetery. A bigger site was needed for a large memorial to be erected shortly.

The coffin was moved in the darkness early Tuesday by five gravediggers, working by the light of oil lamps. Officials said the Home Office, in approving the transfer, specified that the reburial must take place at night.

Marx died here in exile from Germany in 1883 at the age of 65. His most famous book, "Das Kapital," is a bible of Communism.

The new grave site is 200 yards from the old one and three times as big. John W. Morgan, secretary of the Marx memorial committee, said the monument to be erected over it will be of polished black granite with bronze figures on the base.

Morgan gave no indication of its cost, but a monument maker said £5,000 would be a good guess.

Passport Returned To Prince Maurice

MILAN, Italy (Reuters) — Prince Maurice of Hesse, 28, nephew of ex-king Umberto of Italy, Thursday night was given back his passport seized last September on the orders of the magistrate inquiring into the Wilma Montesi "drug orgy" scandal. Return of the passport is believed to mean the magistrate has decided the prince was not involved in the case.

2,000 Scouts In City Need More Leaders

Growth Pinpoints Personnel Problem

More Scout leaders are needed in the Victoria area, according to George Barr, district Scout commissioner.

Speaking at a meeting of the Victoria District Boy Scouts' Association Thursday night, he called for more leaders to handle the increasing number of boys joining the organization. He also said the Victoria district should be prepared to send a troop to the 8th world jamboree at Niagara next year.

Robert Milks, the district's new executive commissioner, was introduced at the meeting. Reports were delivered by subcommittee heads.

Annual registrations are almost complete, Major H. B. Hunter, honorary secretary, announced. More than 2,000 Scouts and Cubs are now in the district.

Cougars' Eddie Gets Cute Kitten

Victoria's proudest poppa today is in Saskatoon but he is counteracting the prairie chill by thinking warm thoughts about Barbara Lorraine, a rookie in the hockey world. The father in question is Eddie Dorohoy of the Victoria Cougars, whose wife, Shirley, presented him with a five-pound, nine-ounce bundle of hockey fan Thursday. The little one, posing with Momma, came into this world to the accompaniment of quite a fanfare from Father. Eddie sparked the Cougars to a 5-2 victory over Saskatoon Quakers Thursday night, scoring two goals and two assists. So that Ed will be able to do a little boasting to other Cougar fathers, the Times today sent him a copy of the above picture, air mail, special delivery.—(Times Photo)

Sommers Denies All Knowledge Of Forest License Patronage

Lands and Forests Minister R. E. Sommers today denied any knowledge of government patronage in the issuing of forest management licenses, charged Thursday by the president of the Independent Loggers' Association.

"I know absolutely nothing about it," said Mr. Sommers, commenting on the charges laid by ILA president Russ Boyd.

Mr. Boyd, in a statement issued to the Legislative Press Gallery, said "the forest land of B.C. has become one rich political gravy bowl."

Mr. Boyd did not send the statement to any member of the government, and the press gallery refused Premier Bennett permission to have a photostat made of the statement.

He had particular reference to a license granted to a U.S.-controlled firm in an up-coast area, and implied the government had received campaign funds from the firm.

Mr. Sommers said the firm's application "went through the due process of law." and that the management application was "absolutely approved by the forestry branch.

This morning Premier W. A. C. Bennett sought from press gallery members the original hand-written statement made by Boyd, in order to have a photostat made. It was declined.

Mr. Boyd's statement was in the form of what he termed "an open letter" to Mr. Sommers. It named the firm involved, and the area in which the management license is located.

MOUNTAIN TOPS

The association president's statement said the firm was granted all the mature and overmature timber in the area, leaving only young growth, and "mountain tops" in the adjacent public working circle for independent logging firms.

The license was granted, Mr. Boyd claimed, against the advice of government forest rangers.

He demanded to know why the government was "so dead set against having a public inquiry" into the forest industry. "You aren't afraid of the truth coming out, are you?" he asked.

"We believe that public working circles (which are managed by government foresters, but logged by independent logging companies) have only one purpose.

"GRAVY BOWL"

"They were meant, like so many other things, as a device to pull the wool over the eyes of the public so they won't see that their most valuable property, the forest land of B.C., has become one big rich political gravy bowl," said Mr. Boyd.

Boyd's charges are the latest development in a drawn-out controversy over forest management, and the condition of B.C.'s vitally important forest industry as a whole.

Mr. Sommers was asked whether the government intended appointing a Royal Commission into the industry. He said, "We never said we would not have one before 1957, or within the 10-year period."

The 10-year period was recommended by Chief Justice Gordon Sloan, who held the last inquiry into the forest industry.

Mr. Sommers said: "We don't recognize the need of an inquiry because of the persistent uproar. We will be guided by the commissioner's recommendation."

Mr. Boyd said the license award reduces the status of some small loggers in the area to that of "sharecroppers."

POPULAR COLORING CONTEST OFFERS CASH TO KIDDIES

Judging will take place in time for the cash prizes to be sent out before Christmas.

Murder-by-Fire Foiled in Ontario

PICKERING, Ont. (BUP)—A fire-crazy would-be killer was being sought by police today after he tried to murder a 45-year-old Ukrainian and his baby son by wiring shut the doors of their home, dousing it with gasoline and setting it afire.

William Saswirska and his 15-months-old son, George, escaped by a window. Mrs. Saswirska, who came to Canada with her husband in 1948, was in hospital at the time.

Pickering Township police said the unidentified arsonist ingeniously turned the house into a first-class death trap.

He crept up to the house, two miles north of Frenchman's Bay, about 4 a.m. today, fastened 32 feet of galvanized wire to the front door and anchored it shut against a tree 20 feet away.

The would-be killer jammed a block of wood against the rear door so that it could not be opened from the inside. A ladder belonging to a neighbor was propped up against a second-story window and there was an empty gasoline can nearby.

Police said the arsonist apparently used the ladder to climb into the house so he could sprinkle the upstairs with gasoline before tossing in a match.

Saswirska awoke to find the house a mass of roaring flames.

"I ran to the back door, but couldn't get it open," he said. "I tried the front door, but couldn't open it either."

He battled his way through heavy smoke to the living room, smashed a window and lowered out the baby. Then he climbed out himself.

TORONTO POLICE NAB 'STRANGLER' SUSPECT

TORONTO (CP) — John Trenton, 25-year-old stock exchange clerk, was charged early today with attempted rape as a result of an attack Thursday night on a 24-year-old school teacher.

Police plan to put Trenton in a police lineup to be viewed by women who have escaped attacks from a man blamed for the recent strangling of two Toronto women.

Trenton was arrested at his home after police swarmed into suburban Leaside following reports the strangler had struck again.

Esks Hopeful; Als Favorites

TORONTO (CP)—Sam Etcheverry, Montreal Alouettes' field general and pass-throwing quarterback, today was named Canada's outstanding football player of 1954. Gerry James, 20-year-old halfback with Winnipeg Blue Bombers, was named the outstanding native Canadian player.

TORONTO (BUP)—A threat of snow followed the Edmonton Eskimos as they ran through a final light workout today, still hopeful of upsetting the Montreal Alouettes Saturday and taking the Grey Cup west for the fifth time in 23 years.

Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy said his boys were displaying "quiet confidence." The favored Alouettes completed a light boning session at home and boarded a train for the nation's biggest sports spectacle.

Forecaster Fred Turnbull announced meanwhile that "the probabilities are all for snow" by the time the east-west duel hits a greasy Varsity stadium field 10 a.m. PST.

He said a western storm would likely not hit in full force until the game was over. If the temperature is much below the expected high of 38, the snow will be heavier and visibility cut. If the mercury rises, rain will soften the field, dampen the seats and likely strengthen the 5-to-1 odds against the Eskies.

Industrial heating equipment was being set up by the Canadian General Electric Company late today in a last ditch attempt to dry up the puddles. The firm said it successfully gave the famed Pasadena Rose Bowl the same drying treatment last year.

"HASTE" IS STICKLER, PRIZE RAISED TO $125

Times crossworders found puzzle No. 87 a bit too difficult and no one came up with a correct solution. There were several sticklers but the ones that most tripped up on were "fiat" for No. 7 across, "haste" for No. 22 across and "read" for No. 2 down. ## Ottawa Will Pay 75% Says Fairey

A $70,000 reconstruction project for Esquimalt's Admirals Road was assured today when Victoria MP, Dr. Frank Fairey, announced that Ottawa is ready to pay 75 per cent of the cost.

Dr. Fairey, in an exclusive Times interview this morning, disclosed the Ottawa offer.

He said that in a phone conversation with Defense Minister Ralph Campney he had been told "that the minister is prepared to recommend to his colleagues that the federal government undertake to pay 75 per cent of the total cost of reconstruction of Admirals."

He added that letters detailing the offer are en route to Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele and to himself.

LONG-STANDING PROBLEM

"No sum has been mentioned, but it is understood Esquimalt proposals and estimates of cost will be forwarded to Ottawa," added Dr. Fairey. (Esquimalt has estimated the cost as $70,000.)

The announcement ends years of dissatisfaction in the municipality where councils have argued that National Defense traffic is responsible for the road's condition.

"The problem has been long standing, and one which I have concerned myself with repeatedly. I am deeply gratified that the defense department has given consideration to it."

EARLIER INTIMATION

Clr. J. E. Carey disclosed that council had earlier intimation the offer was under way. He said "I am very pleased the government has recognized these roads are being damaged by federal government traffic."

He said council had set the estimate for complete reconstruction from Esquimalt Road to municipal boundaries at $70,000. "It may be a good deal more now."

Reeve A. C. Wurtele would not leave a Canadian Community Planning Association Conference at the Empress Hotel.

Boy's Death Accidental, Court Told

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP) —A statement that Thomas Blainey, charged with the shotgun slaying of his nephew, accidentally killed the boy while unloading his gun was admitted as evidence in the preliminary hearing Thursday.

The statement was given by a member of the Blainey family to RCMP.

It said that Blainey and his mother, Mrs. Annie Blainey, had been drinking beer on the day of the shooting and Blainey later took his rifle outside to shoot at various objects.

When he returned, said the statement, he put the rifle in a corner. Later he picked it up to eject two shells that remained in it and it went off, killing his nephew, Ernie.

That statement also said that Blainey then panicked, put the boy's body in a weighted sack and threw it into the water.

FACE-WASHING FISH, WINKING FROGS MEAN RAIN

Seer Predicts Skies Will Weep; —Deep Snow, If Earth Quakes

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A Songhees Indian weather prophet said today Victoria is in for plenty of rain for the next two months because the "heavens are weeping over man's failure to get along with one another in the world."

Eighty-one-year-old Jimmy Fraser, grandson of Chief Cheachlatcht, who from time to time makes a weather prediction, said he was forewarned of the rainy season by signs he noticed on the land and sea.

But, he added, he could not tell yet if Victoria was in for a cold winter.

"I saw the fish in the sea were still washing their faces; that sure sign of plenty, plenty rain," he said.

BAD SIGN

The stars, too, were "moving away from the earth," he added. "A bad sign. When the stars come down and kiss the earth it means good weather."

Jimmy is poetical. He speaks allegorically and is sometimes hard to understand. For him the trees, the stars, sea and mountains are but symbols of the eternal—all is living.

The old Indian said he would only be able to predict in January if Victoria would get snow and below zero weather next year. The signs for the present, he said, all pointed to rainy weather.

"But beware if we get an earthquake within the next two months," he said, raising his voice slightly. "If we do, gather your firewood, for it means snow six feet high and cold winds."

Jimmy noted that William Mackie, Victoria's weatherman, made a mistake this week by predicting rain for Wednesday when it actually came Thursday. He said he had a high respect for Mr. Mackie, but he wanted to give him a word of advice so that he wouldn't get in trouble with his bosses in Ottawa.

"Let him look into the eyes of a frog," he said. "If it winks, it is a sure sign rain will fall within 24 hours."

$70,000 Deal To Rebuild Admirals Road

Ottawa Will Pay 75%, Says Fairey

A $70,000 reconstruction project for Esquimalt's Admirals Road was assured today when Victoria MP, Dr. Frank Fairey, announced that Ottawa is ready to pay 75 per cent of the cost.

Victoria's proudest poppa today is in Saskatoon but he is counteracting the prairie chill by thinking warm thoughts about Barbara Lorraine, a rookie in the hockey world. The father in question is Eddie Dorohoy of the Victoria Cougars, whose wife, Shirley, presented him with a five-pound, nine-ounce bundle of hockey fan Thursday. The little one, posing with Momma, came into this world to the accompaniment of quite a fanfare from Father. Eddie sparked the Cougars to a 5-2 victory over Saskatoon Quakers Thursday night, scoring two goals and two assists. ## Sommers Denies All Knowledge Of Forest License Patronage

Lands and Forests Minister R. E. Sommers today denied any knowledge of government patronage in the issuing of forest management licenses, charged Thursday by the president of the Independent Loggers' Association.

"I know absolutely nothing about it," said Mr. Sommers, commenting on the charges laid by ILA president Russ Boyd.

Mr. Boyd, in a statement issued to the Legislative Press Gallery, said "the forest land of B.C. has become one rich political gravy bowl."

He had particular reference to a license granted to a U.S.-controlled firm in an up-coast area, and implied the government had received campaign funds from the firm.

Mr. Sommers said the firm's application "went through the due process of law," and that the management application was "absolutely approved by the forestry branch.

Mr. Boyd did not send the statement to any member of the government, and the press gallery refused Premier Bennett permission to have a photostat made of the statement.

Mr. Boyd's statement was in the form of what he termed "an open letter" to Mr. Sommers. It named the firm involved, and the area in which the management license is located.

The association president's statement said the firm was granted all the mature and overmature timber in the area, leav-

55 Million Will View Classic

West Underdogs, But Esk Fan Predicts 'Biggest Upset in Football History'

From CP and UP Dispatches

TORONTO—Industrial heating engineers were busy today "baking" the Varsity Stadium field for Saturday's Grey Cup game—the Canadian sports classic of the year.

The weatherman has forecast that "the probabilities are all for snow" by the time the western champions, Edmonton Eskimos, and the eastern champs, Montreal Alouettes, hit the field at 10 a.m., PST, tomorrow.

Alouettes are favored to win by 13 points.

Two hundred roaring Edmonton Eskimo fans, wearing lapel-pin oil wells that flashed on and off, invaded Toronto today.

OPTIMISTIC

The fans were piped out of the Union Station concourse by five woman pipers and snake-danced across the street to the Royal York Hotel, where an advance guard of western supporters was waiting to greet them at an igloo headquarters set up in the lobby.

One elderly fan, carefully supported off the train by friends on both sides, shouted to everyone who would listen: "This'll be the biggest upset in football history."

One of the spectators on hand will be Montreal's Mayor Jean Drapeau.

He flew to Toronto today, leading an estimated 6,000 Montreal fans flocking to the Queen City by air, train and automobile.

Drapeau said he was confident the Alouettes would beat the Eskimos.

A colorful collection of cuties, bands, convertibles and floats will kick off tomorrow morning from the intersection of downtown Simcoe and Wellington Streets, two blocks from Union Station.

The lusty paraders, with western hats, ribbons and pennants, and including Miss Grey Cup, will march to city hall, where Mayor Leslie Saunders will extend civic greetings.

Following the fun downtown, parade moves to the stadium.

Radio broadcasters will describe the whole parade and television cameras will catch the final few minutes as it enters the stadium 45 minutes before game time.

Murder-by-Fire Foiled in Ontario

PICKERING, Ont. (BUP)—A fire-crazy would-be killer was being sought by police today after he tried to murder a 45-year-old Ukrainian and his baby son by wiring shut the doors of their home, dousing it with gasoline and setting it afire.

William Saswirska and his 15-months-old son, George, escaped by a window. Mrs. Saswirska, who came to Canada with her husband in 1948, was in hospital at the time.

Pickering Township police said the unidentified arsonist ingeniously turned the house into a first-class death trap.

He crept up to the house, two miles north of Frenchman's Bay, about 4 a.m. today, fastened 32 feet of galvanized wire to the front door and anchored it shut against a tree 20 feet away.

The would-be killer jammed a block of wood against the rear door so that it could not be opened from the inside. A ladder belonging to a neighbor was propped up against a second-story window and there was an empty gasoline can nearby.

Police said the arsonist apparently used the ladder to climb into the house so he could sprinkle the upstairs with gasoline before tossing in a match.

Saswirska awoke to find the house a mass of roaring flames.

"I ran to the back door, but couldn't get it open," he said. "I tried the front door, but couldn't open it either."

He battled his way through heavy smoke to the living room, smashed a window and lowered out the baby. Then he climbed out himself.
